ASSEMBLY REQUIRED — The corner of Columbus Avenue and Blackstone Street Thursday evening looked somewhat like a father's living room floor in the wee hours of a Christmas morning. Contractors for the new Blue Drummer steak house spread out an array of parts which are ready for assembly. By inserting post A into slot B and repeating the process several times, the parts will form a home for the new restaurant — with no parts left over.

Pentagon cuts 11,600 jobs

Nationwide base closings bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today announced a coast-to-coast reshuffling and reduction of military bases and headquarters that will eliminate about 11,600 civilian jobs and transfer 11,500 Army and Air Force personnel over the next 2½ years.

The moves are aimed chiefly at shifting about $300 million a year from support functions to increased combat capability. The uniformed personnel will be switched to combat and combat-related assignments.

The 110 "base realignment actions," as the Pentagon called them, will affect dozens of installations.

But only two major bases were ordered closed — the Army's Frankford Arsenal in Philadelphia and Ellington Air Force Base, Houston, Tex.

One congressional source said about half of the civilian employes offered transfers could be expected to quit their defense jobs rather than relocate.

Many Army, Air Force and Defense Supply Agency depots, laboratories and offices will lose manpower and womanpower, but some will gain.

Net losses will range from about 2,000 civilian jobs at the Frankford Arsenal to as few as a dozen in some small offices, officials said.

Beside the Frankford Arsenal, the biggest losers will be Ellington, Pueblo Army Depot, Colo.; Blue Grass Army Depot, Lexington, Ky.; Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome, N.Y.; and Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base near Kansas City, Mo. Officials said civilian jobs will be reduced by a net of at least 1,000 at each base.

Cutbacks hit 2 Ohio bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, says changes planned at two Air Force bases in Ohio "appear to be well thought out to achieve greatest economy and improved management."

Shifts in personnel, equipment and facilities at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton and Rickenbacker Air Force Base near Columbus were disclosed by Taft Thursday.

The moves are part of nationwide cutback and relocation plans the Defense Department was expected to announce today.

Taft said a bombardment wing will be deactivated at Wright-Patterson to provide space for consolidation there of Air Force System Command laboratories and Flight Test and Aircraft Modification Resources.

The action will result in a net reduction of 525 military personnel and an increase of 685 civilian manpower authorizations.

"This should result in personnel and payroll increases in the Dayton area as well as economies and efficiencies for the Air Force," Taft said.

Plans to shift tanker operations from regular to Air National Guard units at Rickenbacker, Taft said, is a move he has long supported.

That move will result in a decrease of 495 active military personnel at Rickenbacker.

At Wright-Patterson, the 17th Bombardment Wing of the Strategic Air Command will be inactivated, with its B-52 and KC-135 aircraft transferred to other locations during the next year.

Air Force Systems Command flight test aircraft at Elgin AFB in Florida and Edwards AFB in California will be consolidated with similar resources at Wright-Patterson.

The Air Force Avionics Laboratory, Air Force Materials Laboratory, Air Force Flight Dynamics Laboratory and Air Force Aero-Propulsion Laboratory will be consolidated into a single organization at Wright-Patterson.

Major activities and functions of the Rome Air Development Center at Griffis AFB in New York will be relocated at Wright-Patterson.

The Defense Department says consolidation of like-type flight test operations and reorganization of the Air Force laboratories will result in significant savings through reduced overhead costs, according to Taft.

At Rickenbacker, the 32nd Air Refueling Squadron will be inactivated next summer and its 15 KC-135s transferred to the Air National Guard. At the same time, the 160th Air Refueling Group will convert from KC-97 to KC-135 aircraft.

Those actions, along with the inactivation of the SAC unit at Wright-Patterson, are in accordance with the Air Force's plans to move the Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve toward increased responsiveness and combat readiness.

A former professional basketball player traced his career and shared a number of other experiences and stories during the annual meeting of the Fayette County Area Bankers Association Thursday in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairground.

Adrian Smith, who spent nearly a decade with the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association, told the bankers and other guests that the game of basketball provided him with a college education, a chance for extensive travel, taught him the real meaning of sportsmanship, respect and sacrifice in addition to determination, confidence and a continued effort to improve.

ADRIAN SMITH

SMITH, an extremely humble person who is now associated with Central Trust Co., Cincinnati, was one of six children raised on a 50-acre farm near Farmington, Ky., a whistle stop in the western part of the state.

He was one of 13 students in his senior class and following high school Smith entered a junior college in Mississippi. "I enjoyed junior college because it gave me the opportunity to play about 40 games per year," Smith said.

After two years at the junior college, Smith was recruited by scouts at the University of Kentucky, where he played under the legendary Adolph Rupp.

"We won the NCAA championship during my senior year in 1958 and had a center who is now a Methodist minister and he couldn't score a lick but was one of the team's top players," Smith recalled.

After averaging 11 points a game for Kentucky during his senior year, Smith joined the U.S. Army and after only one week in the military was sent to San Francisco for a tryout for the All-Army team. "We competed against other branches of the service and pretty soon an all-service team was formed," he said. The service team later became known as the Pan-American team and played in Chicago against teams from Latin America.

In 1960, while still serving in the military, Smith became a member of what he termed "the greatest amateur team ever" for the Olympic games in Rome. The team included such stars as Jerry West, Oscar Robertson, Jerry Lucas, Walt Bellamy, Terry Dischinger, Darrell Imhoff and Bob Boozer. Nine of the team members eventually turned pro and five played with the Royals at one time.

Smnith said he was stirred emotionally when the National Anthem was played before more than 125,000 persons from 80 countries during the opening of the Olympic games and was also extremely excited by the gold medal presentations to the team members.

"It was really a wonderful two years in the Army," Smith related in noting that all practically all his military duty was spent on the hardwood.

He joined the Cincinnati Royals in 1961 and spent eight and a half years with the team playing in the backcourt with Oscar Robertson, whom he called "one of the greatest of all times."

THE FORMER pro basketball guard, who has been in the banking business for the past one and a half years, said one of the greatest thrills of his life is the Adrian Smith Basketball League for underprivileged children in eastern Cincinnati. He said the six-team league is operated by an elderly man on a budget of $8900

Gilligan admits election falsehood

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan has admitted in a private memo to aides that he resorted to distortions "if not lying outright" when he told the public no additional taxes would be necessary in the next administration.

And he said the fact that nobody believed him was a contributing factor in his defeat by Republican former Gov. James A. Rhodes in the Nov. 5 election.

The disclosures were made in a memo obtained by the Dayton Journal Herald's Columbus correspondent, Hugh McDiarmid, and published in a copyrighted story in the newspaper's Friday morning editions.

The six-page memo to nine top staffers and campaign aides was dictated by Gilligan on Nov. 10 during his six-day post-election stay in Florida but was not distributed until after he returned to Ohio.

Gilligan said the fact that he agreed to adopt a no-new-taxes stand was why he "wriggled and squirmed as the press roasted me with question after question on general revenues, educational revenues, gasoline taxes and so forth.

"That is one reason that I became in many instances defensive and querulous and furious."

The outgoing governor started out the memo by saying, "First of all, it was MY FAULT." He blames himself for falling into "the oldest of traps" for political candidates—resorting to expediency in order to win.

"I wanted to win so badly that I persuaded myself that I could run this campaign in a defensive crouch and that in fact it would be far safer to do so than to run the risk of 'losing my temper' or making some rash statement. So, in fact, I said nothing."

This posture, according to Gilligan, resulted in his being dishonest with the people.

"... What I gave them was something considerably less than the truth, and I permitted myself to be persuaded that was the course of prudence, because I was afraid the people could not handle the truth, and if I presented them with it, I would lose, and I wanted very much to win," Gilligan wrote.

Gilligan acknowledged that: "Whatever also may be said, a quick glance at the election returns indicates one fact quite clearly—I was really beat to a pulp."

He notes the unusual election results that showed he ran behind most of the rest of the Democratic slate.

"Thousands of people who voted for the Democrats running for high office declined to mark their ballots for me," he wrote.

Community Chest hits 80 per cent of goal

The 1975 Community Chest drive, which officially concluded last Friday, has increased to 80 per cent this week, according to Otis R. Hess Jr., president of the Community Chest board of directors.

Hess stated that follow-up calls are still being made and indications are favorable for reaching the established goal of $28,000.

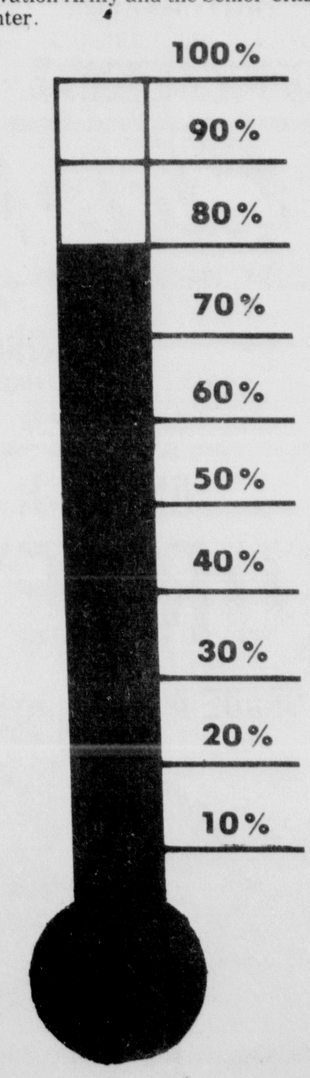

Pam Landrum, secretary-treasurer for this year's Community Chest campaign, stated that to date $22,375.85 has been contributed toward the 1975 goal. The $22,000 figure represents 80 per cent of the goal.

MISS LANDRUM said late contributions are still being received at the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce office and that this week's largest contributor was the Mead Container Corp., with a donation of $992.60.

The Red Feather Club, which includes businesses, individuals, or industries contributing $100 or more, has increased to 48 members.

Additional members are the G.C. Murphy Co., K-Mart, the Dayton Power and Light Co., and employes, the city of Washington C.H. employes, the Mead Container Corp. and employes, the Fayette County Highway Department employes, Landmark feed plant employes, the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., and employes, Redman Industries, Inc., and employes, Cor Tec, Inc., and employes and the Ohio Water Service Co.

The Community Chest funds will benefit a total of 10 participating agencies. The agencies are the Boy Scouts, the Camp Fire Girls, the Community Activity Fund, the Community Education program, the Girl Scouts, the Mental Health Association, Eyman Park, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army and the Senior Citizens Center.

Coverup prosecution end nears

WASHINGTON (AP) — After 6½ weeks of hearing 26 witnesses and more than 20 hours of White House tapes, the prosecution in the Watergate coverup trial is ready to rest its case.

Four final prosecution witnesses, including former White House aide Egil "Bud" Krogh, are scheduled to testify today before the defense begins its case, probably on Monday.

In White House tapes presented Thursday, former President Richard M. Nixon was heard at least five times expressing worry that former White House counsel John W. Dean III may have secretly carried a tape recorder under his armpit during a March 21, 1973 meeting. Dean and Nixon talked at that meeting about paying money to the original Watergate defendants.

Concerned because Dean had begun cooperating with Watergate investigators in early April 1973, Nixon asked coverup defendant H.R. Haldeman on the evening of April 25 if there was any way Dean "might have walked in there (to the White House Oval Office) with a recorder on him?"

Haldeman dismisses the likelihood, but Nixon persists in examining the possibility because he was curious about what Dean may have told prosecutors about the March 21 discussion of $1 million in potential hush money requirements.

"I'd think that it's a little, it's, it's, even the smallest ones are bulky enough that you mean, with a fellow like Dean you'd sort of see that, wouldn't you? Where do you carry them, in your hip pocket or your breast pocket?"

Haldeman: "Oh, under your arm, you know, where they carry a pistol holster or something."

Nixon, who had earlier described a possible Dean tape recording as "a real bomb," went on to speculate how Dean's word would stand up against that of a president's.

Nixon: "Oh well, on that we'll destroy him (Dean)."

On another of the four tapes heard by the jury Thursday, Nixon speculates, "I just wonder if the son-of-a-bitch had a recorder on him. I didn't notice any but I wasn't looking."

Haldeman guesses in that conversation again that Dean carried no secret recorder, if only because the former White House counsel had no reason to believe that Nixon would say, as he did, that money for the original seven Watergate defendants could easily be raised.

"He had no thought that you were going to say anything like this," said Haldeman, who had just listened to the March 21 tape and was giving Nixon an account of the meeting.

Auto layoffs to top 145,000

DETROIT (AP) — At least 145,000 blue collar auto workers and thousands more white collar employes will be out of work part or all of next month because of mounting production cutbacks in the faltering automobile industry.

General Motors said Thursday it will shut nine car assembly plants for one or two weeks in December and lay off 30,000 workers because of declining sales.

Meanwhile, Ford Motor Co. said it is furloughing 3,000 white collar workers Dec. 1. Chrysler Corp. revealed plans to lay off white collar workers soon, but would not confirm reports that the number would be as high as 15,000.

In Windsor, Ont., Chrysler of Canada said 1,700 workers will be laid off starting today from Canadian plants which supply parts for the firm's U.S. operations.

The latest GM layoffs will mean more than 20 per cent of the industry's hourly work force of about 700,000 will be jobless next month, about 80,000 of them indefinitely. An additional 20,000 workers have been scheduled for temporary layoffs this month only.

GM, which currently has nearly 40,000 hourly workers on indefinite layoff, said workers temporarily furloughed next month will receive full holiday pay for the normal Christmas-to-New Years shutdown.

In other developments Thursday:

—Ford announced it has cut $66 off the base price of its subcompact two-door Pinto, which suffered a 37 per cent sales decline in early November.

Ford said the Pinto will now carry a base price of $2,769, making it the lowest priced American-made car. Ford also said it is using less expensive tires as standard equipment, reducing prices another $84.

—Toyota Motor Sales U.S.A. announced in Torrance, Calif., that its 1975 Corona and Celica models will be priced between $440 and $615 higher than comparable 1974 models.

Toyota said the increases, which range from 12.5 to 16.6 per cent, are the result of inflated production costs and the addition of new or improved standard equipment.

The Chrysler and GM production cutbacks come in the face of a 30 per cent drop in new model sales.

GM said its plants in North Tarrytown, N.Y.; Van Nuys and Southgate, Calif., will be closed for two weeks starting Dec. 2. Plants at Fairfax, Kan., and Willow Run, Mich., will be shut for the weeks of Dec. 2 and Dec. 16.

One-week shutdowns beginning Dec. 16 are scheduled for plants at Lordstown, Ohio; Janesville, Wis.; St. Louis, Mo., and Wilmington, Del.

The Lordstown, Willow Run, Van Nuys and Tarrytown plants are shut this week, and Lordstown and Willow Run will remain shut next week, as well.

The fall storm that battered Ohio Wednesday and Thursday finally moved off the New England coast Thursday night, allowing winds to drop to more normal levels.

A weak high pressure ridge dominated the weather today, with sunshine expected to spread from the west parts of the state to the east as clouds dissipate.

But a new fall storm was forecast to develop in the lee of the Rockies tonight and affect Ohio late Saturday or Sunday. Temperatures will warm through Saturday, with highs reaching the 50s and low 60s.

Chance of showers Sunday. Mostly cloudy Monday and Tuesday. Daytime high temperatures in the 40s and low 50s. Nighttime low temperatures in the 30s.

Stock list posts gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market snapped out of a long downtrend today with a broad technical advance.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 7.20 to 615.77, and gainers held a 7-to-2 edge on losers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the upswing drew some of its inspiration from the market's generally steady response Thursday to the news of the Justice Department's antitrust suit against American Telephone & Telegraph. An added boost was provided by another cut in the prime lending rate, from 10¼ to 10 per cent, by New York's First National City Bank.

G.D. Searle was the most-active issue on the Big Board, down ½ at 15½. A 190,000-share block moved at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index declined .42 to 63.67.

AT&T shares were active, rebounding ½ to 43⅛ from Thursday's 3-point loss.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks rose .44 to 36.64.

Ford tours South Korea; 2 million line Seoul streets

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Ford saw the biggest crowd of his life in South Korea's capital today, then traveled close to the frontier with Communist North Korea to visit enthusiastic American troops.

The Korean national police estimated about 2 million flagwaving, confetti-throwing Koreans turned out for the American President's arrival. American newsmen estimated the crowd at a million or more, roughly equivalent to the turnout for President Johnson in 1966.

President Chung Hee Park mobilized a heavy security guard to prevent opponents of his dictatorship making trouble during Ford's visit. But twice during the 10-mile drive from the airport into Seoul, Ford emerged from Park's armored limousine with his host in tow and mingled with the crowd.

Asked at one stop if he had ever seen anything like the Korean welcome in Grand Rapids, Mich., his home town, Ford jokingly replied: "Yes, but on a smaller scale."

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger responded for the first time to critics of the visit who argue that Ford's presence lends moral support to Park's dictatorial government.

Kissinger told newsmen aboard Air Force One that Ford in his meeting with Park undoubtedly would "call attention to the impact of Korea's domestic politics" on American opinion. He added, however, that the U.S. government has only a "very limited capacity" to effect political changes in South Korea.

White House press secretary Ron Nessen said Ford had no intention of meeting with any leaders of the anti-Park movement.

After his tumultuous welcome, Ford flew to Camp Casey, an American base manned by some of the 38,000 U.S. troops in Korea. He ate fried chicken with the enlisted men and watched part of a rough game of football and an exhibition of tae kwondo, a Korean form of karate.

Ford spent less than two hours at Camp Casey, then donned a red and black Korean jacket presented to him by an enlisted man and stood up in an open jeep as he rode to his helicopter.

Returning to Seoul, he met with President Park.

His schedule also included a reception and state dinner.

No major announcements were expected from Ford's visit. It was considered to be mainly a reaffirmation of the U.S. defense commitment to South Korea.

The overnight stop in Seoul followed a four-day visit to Japan, the first by a U.S. president. Ford and Kissinger leave South Korea Saturday morning and after a refueling stop in Japan go on to Vladivostok, the Soviet Union's chief Far Eastern port, for a summit conference with Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Irish blamed for bombing fatal to 19 in Britain

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Home Secretary Roy Jenkins today pledged an allout campaign against Irish terrorists after bombs killed 19 persons and fanned anti-Irish feeling in this second largest English city.

The bomb explosions in two crowded bars Thursday night also injured 184.

In London Jenkins told the House of Commons that emergency laws may soon be introduced to combat terrorism in Britain, but he gave no details. He said he will make a further statement to Parliament Monday.

"There is no question of us submitting to a victory for terrorism and we are determined to demonstrate the will to win," declared Jenkins, who represents a Birmingham district in Parliament.

Countering fears that the Birmingham bombings could trigger a wave of vengeance attacks against Britain's Irish communities, Jenkins appealed to Britons to keep their tempers.

If they take the law into their own hands, he warned, "the damage will be still greater and the victory for extremists and terrorists would be greater."

The public blamed the Irish Republican Army, whose bombs have killed at least 30 other persons in England in the past two years. The death toll was the heaviest in any bombing in England or Northern Ireland since the war between Roman Catholic and Protestant extremists began in Ulster five years ago.

Gangs of youths took to the streets of Birmingham, shouting "Irish bastards" and "We hate the Irish!" A gasoline bomb was thrown through the window of a Catholic priest's house.

Mayor James Eames said the terrorist attack would undoubtedly build up hate and prejudice against Birmingham's sizeable Irish population.

"The Irish war has finally come to England," said John Stokes, a Conservative member of the House of Commons. He called for the death penalty "for the perpetrators of these appalling crimes."

There was speculation that the bombings were in response to the government's refusal to allow funeral services in Birmingham for James McDaid, a 28-year-old IRA officer killed in Coventry last week when a bomb he was setting exploded prematurely. His body was brought to Birmingham Thursday and flown to Dublin.

Rocky clears Senate hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee voted unanimously today to recommend the approval of Nelson A. Rockefeller to be vice president.

The 9 to 0 vote sends the nomination to the Senate floor. The full senate is expected to vote after Congress returns from its brief Thanksgiving recess.

The Rules Committee decision came after eight weeks of investigation and hearings into the finances and public and private record of the former New York governor.

The decision became unanimous when Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., joined the majority to vote for Rockefeller.

Allen had said earlier he had not made up his mind how he would vote because he disapproved of Rockefeller's "big government, tax and spend philosophy."

Allen said that from Rockefeller's responses at the hearings he believes Rockefeller has moved philosophically toward the right in recent years.

"While I disagree with much of Gov. Rockefeller's philosophy, I realize that it would be impractical for me to expect a nominee with whose views I wholly agree," Allen said. "Therefore, acting in what I consider to be the national interest, I have voted for Gov. Rockefeller's confirmation as vice president."

already has brought worried delegations to Washington. There always is opposition to base reductions, but concern appears sharper this time because of the nation's economic troubles.

To alleviate the problem, the Pentagon pledged that "every effort will be made to assist displaced civilian employes in obtaining other acceptable employment" in the federal government or private industry. Many career employes will be eligible for up to a year of severance pay.

In any event, many of the installations will not start to feel the effects until next summer and some of the actions will not be completed until mid-1977.

New officers of the Fayette County Area Bankers Association were announced during the brief business meeting.

The officers are Glenn Hemsworth, of the First National Bank in Washington C.H., president; Richard Whiteside, of the Huntington Bank of Washington C.H., vice president; Joe Bryan, of the First National Bank in New Holland, treasurer; and James Wilson, of the Fayette County Bank, secretary. Wilson is immediate past president of the association.

GAO probes FBI activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is sending its own investigators into the FBI's secret files for the first time in history to appraise the effectiveness and legality of FBI operations.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley has agreed to the probe by the General Accounting Office, officials of both agencies said Thursday.

The audit was requested by the House Judiciary Committee and will focus first on the most controversial of all FBI activities, domestic spying.

The investigation will begin after the GAO concludes negotiations over the ground rules with the FBI, according to Richard Fogel, the GAO audit manager for the probe.

"Things are progressing satisfactorily" and those ground rules should be settled early next week, Fogel said in an interview. Late 1975 is the target for delivering the final report to Congress.

Fogel and FBI spokesman George Quinn said the negotiations primarily concern the procedure for allowing GAO auditors access to confidential information in domestic intelligence files.

The FBI already has agreed to make the information available in some manner designed to insure confidentiality, Quinn and Fogel said.

That step is a remarkable departure from the FBI's traditional insistence on secrecy, particularly during the 48 years it was ruled by the late J. Edgar Hoover.

"It is a change. One obvious reason is because Mr. Hoover is not there," Fogel said.

Terrorists skyjack British jet

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Three Arab guerrillas holding 47 persons on a hijacked British jetliner in Tunis threatened to execute one passenger every two hours today unless 13 comrades jailed in Rome and Khartoum are freed, two newsmen allowed aboard reported.

But a Palestinian splinter group in Beirut identifying itself as the hijackers' command said its men sought the release of two comrades jailed in Holland, and unless it got them every Dutch, Belgian and Luxembourg hostage aboard the plane would be killed.

There was no immediate explanation for the difference between the demands.

The hijacking was attacked by the main Palestinian group, the Palestine Liberation Organization, which called it "a desperate attempt to defame the struggle of the Palestinian people and their armed revolution."

In Rome, officials said there were no Palestinians held in Italian jails for terrorist attacks.

Three Palestinians seized the plane in the Persian Gulf sheikdom of Dubai late Thursday, then forced it to fly to Tripoli, Libya where it refueled. From Tripoli they diverted the flight to Tunis.

Days Inn slates opening

The official opening ceremony of the Days Inn motel and Tasty World restaurant, located at the intersection of I-71 and U.S. 35, will be held Saturday.

The motel, the largest Days Inn in Ohio, offers 184 rooms, a conference room, a swimming pool, a children's playground and a family restaurant with a seating capacity for 114 persons.

SCHEDULED to attend the official opening ceremony Saturday are officials from Jeffersonville and Washington C.H. as well as representatives from Days Inn of America, Inc., Atlanta, Ga.

Room rates are $8.88 for a single, $11.88 for a double in addition to low family package rates.

James D. Smith, president of Real Estate Investors Land Corp., of Dayton, the general partner for the new motel-restaurant complex, said approximately 60 persons will be employed when the facility begins full operations.

Miss Gayle Creske, president of Reilco Management Corp., a subsidiary of Real Estate Investors Corp., will operate the motel and restaurant.

About 150 persons attend open house

Approximately 150 persons attended the open house at Washington Senior High School Thursday night. After a program in the high school gymnasium, the parents were given an opportunity to tour the facilities.

David Mustine, WSHS student council president, opened the program with a short address, and then the Madrigal Choir sang three selections.

Principal Fred Jones discussed some of the changes mandated this year by including the freshman class in the high school curriculum. Jones then introduced the WSHS faculty members.

Members of the Junior Naval ROTC then took small groups on tours of the facilities. Following the tours, everyone gathered in the school cafeteria for refreshments and the drawing of door prizes.

Recipients of the gifts donated by local merchants were Mrs. Evelyn Fitzgerald, a popcorn popper from Buckeye Mart; Mrs. David Boswell and Robert Lisk, gift certificates from the Washington Lumber Co.; Mrs. Donald Dunn, a planter from Ellen's Green Thumb; Mrs. Karen French.

An American flag from Foy Johnson's paint store; Jerry Shaw, a certificate for an oil change from the Dayton Avenue Sohio station; John Phillips, sailing lessons from the Lakewood Sportsman Center; Donald Dunn, two dinners at McDonald's. The name of the winner of a centerpiece from Welsh's Greenhouse could not be located.

Dog larceny investigated

A larceny and an attempted breaking and entering incident were reported today by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

A liver and white Springer Spaniel valued at $75, was stolen from the Robert Mallow residence in Jeffersonville Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported today.

The dog is estimated at being four to six months of age.

A 24 inch by 36 inch window was broken from an overhead garage door at the Sunoco service station at the intersection of I-71 and Ohio 38, sometime between 11:30 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. Thursday.

Firemen ponder possible arson

Washington C.H. firemen are presently investigating what they believe to be an incident involving arson.

They reported at 8:05 p.m. Thursday, a garage belonging to Trent Sickle of 217 N. Fayette St., was set on fire. The garage was located behind the Sickle residence and investigation is continuing.

Firemen responded to a second fire Thursday when a furnace motor overheated and broke into flames. They extinguished the fire at the Dewey Sheidler residence at 510 E. Market St., with 15 pounds of carbon dioxide and estimated damage to the motor at $50.

Opinion And Comment

Culling draft evader cases

The partial amnesty program announced by President Ford some weeks ago has thus far been pretty much of a dud, particularly insofar as draft evaders are concerned. Positive response to the proposal that they do alternative service to earn their way back into free society has been positively underwhelming.

When this widespread negative reaction became apparent it was predicted by some that the White House, distressed by the turn of events, would find ways to further temper the program's impact. This initiative just taken by Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe is fulfilling this prophecy.

Saxbe has ordered the nation's 94 United States attorneys to review pending draft evasion cases and dismiss those when prosecution is not justified. It is a fair guess that this will be the U.S. attorneys' finding in a substantial number of the 6,200 such cases. Many involved voluntary exile undertaken on grounds of conscience as the only alternative to serving in a war the evaders deemed fruitless and immoral.

Saxbe has sought to place his directive in the best possible light, saying that "these instructions are in furtherance of the spirit of President Ford's clemency program." He added that "before announcing the program the President stated that he would throw his weight on the side of leniency in treating the draft evader and deserter problem."

Without questioning this, it can be noted that the lethargic response to the program on the part of exiled young men has become a source of some embarrassment to the White House. Dismissal of defective cases fits in with the theme of leniency but will also help to relive that embarrassment.

THESE DAYS . . . . By John Chamberlain

Congress faces 2-headed monster

The next Congress is going to be the double-talk Congress. It could very well double-talk itself into a disaster for 1976 simply because our laws direct it to do quite incompatible things.

One law, known as the Full Employment Act of 1946, directs the Congress to keep unemployment from going beyond a normal amount of what the economists call "frictional unemployment," meaning the three or four per cent of the working population that happens to be between jobs.

But still another law, the one that created the Federal Reserve System, empowers Arthur Burns, the Fed's chairman, to use his own judgment when it comes to controlling the country's money supply. Keeping inflation under control by tight credit policies would necessarily preclude expensive Congressional "make-work" legislation. So the scene is set for conflict if and when strict credit policies threaten to push unemployment above the frictional minimum.

How will the newcomers to Congress divide on what will very possibly be the big issue in the next two years, the issue of full employment versus the integrity of the dollar? House of Representatives Speaker Carl Albert has said, in effect, that he cannot guess. Asked if the influx of 75 new House Democrats, who average 15 years younger than the men they have displaced, will push Congress "leftward" (meaning in a big-spending direction to fight recession), Albert said: "It is difficult to tell. Some take one direction and some another."

The main difficulty is that many of the newcomers take two directions at once. For example, Toby Moffett, the Democrat who has succeeded to the Congressional seat vacated by Connecticut's new woman governor, Ella Grasso, is all in favor of keeping spending within noninflationary bounds. But he is also for easing our credit policies in order to provide mortgage money for the lower middle class and to keep people at work. If prices continue to rise because of food shortages and political decisions on the part of Arab sheiks and the Shah of Iran, Toby Moffett could easily become a walking contradiction.

He would not be the only one. Most of the Congressional newcomers, responding to a National Observer poll, have said they are for legislation to establish national health insurance. The likely scope of such insurance will not be known until Congress starts debating the issue next year. But one thing is certain: Any plan that is acceptable to a heavily Democratic congress will cost a few billion dollars.

So how do you lower the Federal budget if the government is to underwrite the nation's health? It could be done, so many of the Congressional newcomers have indicated, by slicing the defense budget, or by cutting back on foreign aid. But here again, the newcomers must face up to some incompatibilities of logic. If the U.S. is to skimp on its naval appropriations, where does that leave the Arab oil sheik who will quibble about keeping the price of Persian Gulf crude at inflationary levels?

If the Russians, not the Americans, control the sea lanes leading through the Indian Ocean, the Red Sea and the Mediterranean to the oil ports of Western Europe and the United States, our energy policies, for the rest of the 1970s, will be utterly at the mercy of foreigners. The connection between a strong military and naval deterrent and the cost of energy may seem tenuous to the 75 Democratic newcomers to the House. But it is there.

The Full Employment Act of 1946 has always been considered a sacred cow. Would any newcomer to Congress dare propose that it should be amended to make the government responsible for maintaining employment within the limits imposed by the need to keep the dollar honest? Maybe, if and when efforts to cure unemployment through inflationary spending produce nothing more than a continued run of stagflation, somebody will summon up the nerve to say that the long-run health of the economy depends on reviving investment incentives, not in trying to keep people employed by make-work government projects. But nobody campaigned on such a proposition.

The new Congress is the product of voter ambivalence, which does not augur well for any determined fight on inflation.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)
Look for a highly stimulating weekend. Both travel and social activities should prove enlivening. Romance also favored.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)
A clash of temperaments could cause needless friction. Don't jeopardize an old friendship by becoming overly emotional

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
Don't fret if it becomes necessary to sacrifice some leisure time to job matters. Results will more than make up for your disappointment.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Your judgment a bit off now. Take nothing for granted, even if all seems well. And, above all, make no hasty decisions.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Watch your budget! Reject any ideas for travel or entertainment which you can ill afford. Tendency is to be reckless now.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Curb an inclination toward undue suspicion. Look into all situations carefully, but do not read unintended meanings into others' words.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Don't let your curiosity get the better of you — especially in a romantic situation. Too many questions will only yield evasive answers.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
A day of mixed influences. Be careful in your approaches. Others may read more into your words and actions than you intend.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
A long-pending domestic problem can be solved now, so devote the early part of the day to this task. Then you can feel freer to go on to more stimulating interests.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Some tension indicated. Avoid highly strung or neurotic persons, and keep out of situations which could needlessly involve you in others' problems.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Mixed influences. You may encounter some frustrating situations during the a.m., but the tide will turn in your favor later in the day.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)
Some new trends in the making. Study carefully and be sure to check all propositions before accepting. Romance and travel favored.

YOU BORN TODAY as a Sagittarian, are governed by Jupiter, the planet of opportunity — and you rarely miss one as you wend your way through what should surely be a most successful and interesting life. You are extremely versatile and could have a wide choice of careers from which to choose but, more than others of your Sign, your choice will depend largely on your early education and environment. Others may change careers in midstream or drift into a successful field through circumstance — but not you. Your destiny will follow the lines of your intellectual development. Fields in which you could excel, depending on these factors: business management, science, the law, statesmanship, journalism, music, the stage, literature.

Rhodes ponders new assistants

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The guessing game is on. Who will be the men and women to join the administration of former Gov. James A. Rhodes?

Maybe Rhodes doesn't know the answers himself, but state capital sources have begun coming up with names—like John McElroy.

McElroy, a Columbus attorney, was a legal advisor to Rhodes in his last term as governor. Most legal work that went through the governor's office then had to have his approval.

McElroy and Rhodes, reports have it, have talked about a possible position, but Rhodes, in this as in other matters pertaining to the governor's office, is moving slowly.

He wants to get official certification of election from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown before taking any formal action toward resuming the reins.

Rumors have it that Collier doesn't want the state finance job permanently, but is willing to serve Rhodes on an interim basis during the hectic months of change.

Presumably he would be the temporary replacement for John B. Olsen, director of the Office of Budget and Management under Gov. John J. Gilligan.

While Rhodes is shopping around for staff, political appointees of Gilligan are already hitting the job-hunting trail.

Joe Shump, director of the Department of Industrial Relations, reportedly is considering a return to a job he held 17 years ago—metal finisher at Frigidaire Division of General Motors Corp. in Dayton.

Shump, former president of Local 801, International Union of Electrical Workers, last worked as a metal finisher in 1957. He has been on union and political leave since then.

"There is no question my job at Frigidaire is like an ace in the hole," said Shump.

Shump said he also is considering "whether to throw my hat in the ring" for the job of Montgomery County treasurer. Robert L. Roderer, present treasurer, was elected Montgomery County auditor and will take his new post next March.

The Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee will name Roderer's successor.

Disappointed Democrats are continuing their analysis of Gov. John J. Gilligan's re-election defeat and some don't agree that the defeat was a personal repudiation of the governor as Gilligan himself called it.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Candidate for "heel of the year"

DEAR ABBY: I would like to nominate my ex-husband for "Heel of the Year." I divorced him 15 years ago, so he could marry another woman. At the time we had a five-year-old son and a three-year-old daughter.

After the first year he forgot all about child support. I had a good job, so I never hounded him.

Last year, our son enlisted in the Air Force. Five months later he was killed in a training accident.

Abby, that boy saw his father maybe a dozen times in the last 15 years. His father never remembered his son on his birthday or Christmas either.

Guess who showed up at our son's funeral? His father! Now for the unbelievable part: my ex-husband told me at the funeral that he was "entitled" to half our son's G.I. insurance. (The insurance was made out to me.) I told him where to go, and he said he plans to sue me. And he probably will.

Have you ever heard anything to equal that?

SHOCKED IN CHICAGO

DEAR SHOCKED: No. But if any of my readers have, they'll probably let me know. Does anyone care to nominate a candidate for "Heel of the Year?"

DEAR ABBY: My brother and his wife are secretly married. My husband and I stood up for them. Brother is 31, and Ellen (made up name) is 27.

Brother and Ellen do not live together. She lives with her parents and he has his own apartment.

Ellen has not yet told her parents that she is married, and she has given my brother orders not to give away the secret. I think she's ashamed of him, which really upsets me because he is a super guy.

They finally told my parents. Abby, they've been married a year. Last week my parents had a little anniversary celebration party for them. Her folks weren't invited because they still haven't been told about the marriage. It was all so one-sided and weird.

I cannot understand why Ellen won't tell her folks. Neither she nor brother has been married before, there is no racial or religious conflict and my brother doesn't have two heads. In fact he is very handsome. What do you make of this?

"B" IN SAN MATEO

DEAR "B": I don't know Ellen's reason for keeping her marriage a secret, but whatever it is, it's not your problem. It's hers and your brother's.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because although I am on good terms with my doctor and have known him for years I am ashamed to ask him this question.

Ten years ago my husband died. Last year I fell in love again, and the gentlemen is five years younger than I am. I am 83.

For the last 30 years I have had no menstruation, having had my menopause completed at age 53. Can you please tell me if there is any possibility of me becoming pregnant now? I am in good health and do not look anywhere near my age. (I'm told I look about 60.) Do not use my name or location please.

wants to know

DEAR WANTS: No danger.

DEAR ABBY: What can you do for a guy whose new wife suddenly gets hung up on country and western music to the point where she won't listen to any other kind? She knows I hate it. Every radio in the house is tuned to those hillbilly singers. I've been going down to the corner tavern to hear some decent music on the jukebox.

LASSOED

DEAR LASSOED: Get yourself a pair of pick-toed boots, jeans, a yoked shirt, a roll-brim hat, and do-si-do and away you go!

Today In History

Today is Friday, Nov. 29, the 333rd day of 1974. There are 32 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the monarchy was abolished in Yugoslavia.

On this date:

In 1760, the French surrendered Detroit to the British at the end of the French and Indian War.

In 1825, the first Italian opera presented in the United States, Rossini's "Barber of Seville," was performed in New York.

In 1899, the United States, Switzerland and France recognized the Republic of Brazil.

In 1922, archaeologists announced they had found fabulous treasure in the tomb of King Tutankhamen in Egypt.

In 1929, U.S. Navy Lt. Commander Richard Byrd radioed that he had made the first flight over the South Pole.

Ten years ago: Several hundred thousand Chinese demonstrated in Peking against American involvement in the Congo, calling it aggression.

Five years ago: Communist forces in South Vietnam eased up a four-week offensive in which nearly 400 South Vietnamese and 70 Americans were killed.

CINCINNATI PIPE BAND

Cincinnati pipers return to church

The swirl of kilts and skirl of bagpipes are returning to Washington C. H. Sunday with the Cincinnati Pipe Band performing at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

The pipers and drummers will be playing at 10 a.m. in the church for the annual celebration of Saint Andrew's Day.

The band will appear in complete authentic uniforms made in Scotland and copied from the Seaforth Highland Regiment. The kilts are made from MacKenzie Tartan and the pipers will be wearing dark green doublets with black waist and shoulder belts. The bags are normally elk hide and are usually covered by a Tartan bag cover.

The morning service has been modified somewhat from last year to make an even better celebration. One of the changes is that Joseph Foster, one of the Pipers, will sing a solo of the traditional lament, "Flowers of the Forest," accompanied by a single drone.

Following the service, the Pipers will play additional tunes and present a program of dances in the parish hall. Everyone is cordially invited to attend, said the Rev. Leroy Davis, pastor of the church.

Presbyterians to hold Thanksgiving dedication

The congregation of the First Presbyterian Church, 214 N. Hinde St., will take part in a Thanksgiving and Sharing Service Sunday.

As part of the service, they will bring canned goods to be dedicated to the church's food cupboard, which is used by the church deacons in supplying emergency needs.

During the service, the newly-elected trustees of the church will be installed: Wayne Hill, Jack Brennan and Mrs. Homer Bireley to three-year terms.

In future services, the deacons, church elders and newly-elected members of the Youth Council will be installed. Deacons are Russell Klontz, Mrs. William Rogers and Mrs. Herb Stolsenberg. Elders are Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Ed Thompson, Larry Bishop, William Still and David Looker. New Youth Council members are Jill Dorn and Kindra Knedler.

All members were elected by the congregation during the worship hour Nov. 3. In addition to the election, a budget of $55,700 for 1975 was adopted for the work of the congregation and mission programs. The congregation presently includes 734 members.

Maple Grove Women meet

Maple Grove United Methodist Women met in the home of Mrs. Marion Dawson. Devotions were presented by Mrs. Harold Craven, who read from Psalms and 'News Flash.' Mrs. Wilbur Chaplin gave a prayer for missionaries with birthdays in November.

Mrs. Roy Gilmerr presented a Thanksgiving program and read a man's interview with Dr. Norman Vincent Peale and closed with the poem, "One Nation Under God."

An open Bible, white candle, globe of the world, platter of fruit, all represented the preparation for the Passover Feast.

Members answered roll call by giving the date of their wedding and name of the minister who married them. Mrs. Ella Voss Wiseman donated a comforter to the Society, which will be knotted at an all-day meeting.

The December 18 meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. H. Craven when members will bring candy and cookies for the cookie exchange and also for cheer plates for the community. There will also be a $1.00 gift exchange. Mrs. Carey Daugherty and Mrs. Clyde Carman will serve on the committee.

A thank you was read from the VA Hospital, Chillicothe, for money for patient coupon books and also from Fayette County clothing center for a comforter.

Mrs. John Rowland read 'An Unfinished Parable' and the meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Earl Russell.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Wilbur Chaplin, Mrs. John Rowland, Mrs. Locie Eckle, Mrs. Carey Daugherty, Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly, Mrs. Ottie Huff, Mrs. Earl J. Russell, Mrs. Clyde Carman, Mrs. Harold Craven, Mrs. Roy Gilmerr by Mrs. Dawson.

'Being Thankful' Circle theme

The Virginia Circle of the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church met in the church with Mrs. Fred Dement and Mrs. Harry Allen cohostesses.

Mrs. David Groves, circle leader, opened the meeting by reading the poem, "Two Golden Days," and roll call was answered with "What I am thankful for." Cards were signed for shutins.

Mrs. Vida Strietenberger was in charge of the devotions and program. She read from Corinthians, "One Nation Under God," and offered prayer. "Try Being Thankful for You," was the program topic, and she gave an interesting talk concerning the theme.

A dessert course was served to 10 members.

Jenny Adams Circle makes donations

The Jenny Adams Circle of First Baptist Church met in the church parlor with Mrs. Marshall Boggs and the Misses Bertha and Metta Graves as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Robert West opened the meeting and read "Thanksgiving." She named the everyday items for which one should be thankful, such as water, etc. Members named thoughts for Thanksgiving for roll call, and letters were read from Mrs. Edith Robinson, missionary to Haiti, West Indies. A donation was sent to the scholarship student, Nicole Tanes in Haiti, and $10.00 given to Church Women United to purchase toys for Christmas and clothing.

Mrs. West also announced the luncheon at the church for Dec. 4 for the New Crusade. Cheer cards were signed for shut-ins and offerings accepted. There will be work meetings held in January and February when members will roll bandages for the White Cross project and also knot a comforter.

Mrs. Frank Reno presented a book review of "The Prosecutor" by Seirgei Kourdakov, and Mrs. John Baker was in charge of the closing.

Mrs. Albert Caplinger will be hostess for the Christmas party to be held at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 12 in her home, with a gift exchange.

Posy Garden Club members meet in home of Mrs. Fry

Thirteen members of the Posy Garden Club met for the November meeting in the home of Mrs. Forest Fry. Mrs. Carl Benner described how important a proper background is in photographing arrangements and flowers in the garden. She showed snapshots with the right background and some without for comparison. She also suggested some members enter the OAGS slide contest.

Mrs. Lyle Hanawalt showed Ohio Association of Garden Club slides, "Christmas Decorations, Traditional and Modern" and "Christmas Decorations You Can Make" with Mrs. Albert Bihl as narrator. The club has purchased a new OAGC Handbook for Mrs. Jesse Schlichter, president.

Mrs. Schlichter reported nine members had attended Region 16 Fall meeting in Mount Sterling and four members enjoyed the all-day demonstration of "Christmas at Home" with Mrs. Mabel Shoup at the Fish and Game Lodge recently. She distributed the interesting and attractive program books for the coming year.

Mrs. Bihl read a note of appreciation from the Madison Mills elementary school for the subscription to 'Ranger Rick' magazine. Seven members volunteered to assist the class at the Fayette Progressive School. They will make pine cone turkeys for Thanksgiving.

A new book, "Forgotten Art of Flower Cookery" by Leona Woodring Smith was added to the library.

Mrs. Arthur Schlichter reported a committee for planning a flower show for the spring Region 16 meeting, April 17, in Greene County, met in her home recently with Mrs. Ralph White, Regional director, in charge. The tenative title for the show will be "Look to Your Beginnings" with a class named for each of the six counties in the region.

Mrs. Frank Barrett correctly pronounced and described helleborus, the botanical name for Christmas rose, to add to the members vocabulary.

Mrs. Lawrence Woods made a beautiful arrangement of fruit and flowers in a basket, suitable for a Thanksgiving table. The civic committee will make swags for the Madison Mills Methodist Church doors and decorate a tree at Carnegie Library with hand-crafted ornaments.

Mrs. Fry served a dessert salad to Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. Benner, Mrs. Bihl, Mrs. Bernard Edwards, Mrs. Lester Haines, Mrs. Hanawalt, Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. Arthur Schlichter, Mrs. Jesse Schlichter, Mrs. Bess Seaman, Mrs. Ethel Wilson and Mrs. Woods. The annual Christmas luncheon will be Dec. 18, at the Wardell Party Home with a handcrafted gift exchange.

Zeta CCL party planned

Zeta C.C.L. members met in the home of Mrs. Robert Highfield for the regular monthly meeting. Devotions entitled "Angel of Mine" were given by Mrs. Phil Grover. The business meeting was called to order by Mrs. Roger Bonham, during which a discussion of the Spring Conference was held. Mrs. Marion Frantz gave the recording secretary's report and the treasurer's report and ways and means committee report was given by Mrs. Larry Bishop. Mrs. Gene Gustin reported on the philanthropic project for the year and Mrs. Roger Boswell read correspondence including a letter of resignation from Mrs. Gary Thompson.

Attending the meeting as prospective members were Mrs. Alford Carr and Mrs. Whitlow Wyatt.

Following the business meeting, names were drawn for the Christmas gift exchange and a talent sale was held.

Hostesses providing refreshments were Mrs. Paul Hughes and Mrs. Larry Bishop with Mrs. Highfield assisting.

A progressive dinner and gift exchange will be held December 10 at the homes of Mrs. Russell Klontz, Mrs. John Marcum and Mrs. Roger Osborne.

Mrs. Garringer Circle hostess

The Mary Ruth Circle of the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. Russell Garringer on Wednesday for the November meeting.

Due to the absence of the leader, Mrs. Margaret Morrow opened the program by reading a Thanksgiving Poem. Ten members answered roll call.

Regular business was conducted and reports given. Each Circle received $42.00 from the rummage and bake sale. Each member was asked to bring three gift items to sell at the smorgasbord and Bazaar on December 4th. A thank-you note was read from Mrs. Dennewitz and wooden crosses distributed to the members, a gift from Mrs. Dennewitz.

The program was presented by Mrs. Morrow. She read Psalm 100, an article by O'Henry on Thanksgiving, also a poem "It Can't Be True" and closed with "A Prayer At Harvest.

HAPPY BLUE-BELLES
BLUEBIRDS

Roll Call was given by Julie Boswell and dues were collected by Melissa Climer. Each girl named something that she was thankful for as she paid her dues.

Mrs. Boswell and Mrs. Wyatt helped the group make Christmas gifts for a class of children at the Progressive School.

The next meeting will be December 2 with Stephanie Hatmacher responsible for refreshments.

Those present were Julie Boswell, Melissa Climer, Angela Everhart, Debbie Forsha, Stephanie Hatmacher, Loretta Self, Jody Shepler, Jackie Sue Smith, Amy Wyatt, Mrs. Boswell, Mrs. Wyatt, Amy Boswell and Wesley Wyatt.

Julian Bond may enter 1976 race

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Georgia state legislator Julian Bond says he is seriously considering seeking the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976.

The 34-year-old Bond, who will take a seat in the Georgia Senate in January, told newsmen Thursday at the University of Dayton:

"Before I make an announcement I want to check both the financial aspects of a presidential campaign and how much support I can raise.

"So, between now and next spring, I want to find the answers to those questions. If the answers are positive, then I guess I'll run."

Bond said he is not interested in running for the U.S. Senate or Congress.

"If I can't have the presidency, there's nothing else for me. It's the White House or nothing," Bond said. Bond has served eight years in the Georgia house and won election to the state senate this year. Bond was nominated for vice president in 1968 but withdrew because of his age.

Bond said President Ford had made some position changes for the administration other than those held by former President Richard M. Nixon. He cited as examples, a meeting with the Congressional black caucas soon after becoming president.

"Ford spent so much time in the House, that he understands the need for meetings," Bond said, evaluating Ford's effectiveness.

"There could be a substantial change if he would act on some of the proposals offered him.

"I hope this next 100 days in office will be more effective," Bond said.

Organ Club

The new Allen electronic organ at First Baptist Church will be played by Mrs. Paul Brunner for members of the Washington Organ Club, when they meet at the church at 7:30 p.m. Friday (tonight). Mrs. Ralph Yerian will play organ-piano pieces on the piano also.

The meeting is for anyone interested in playing church music or owns organs in the community.

Comrades cancel gift exchange

Comrades of the Second Mile will not have a gift exchange at the December meeting, planned in the home of Mrs. Gilbert Biddle at 6:30 p.m. A carry in dinner will, however, be a feature.

Good Hope Lions Club nets $700 on project

GOOD HOPE — The Good Hope Lions Club netted approximately $700 profit from the sausage and pancake supper held Nov. 9, it was reported Thursday at the regular meeting in Wayne Township Hall.

According to Lion Joe Barton, the proceeds will go into the club's activities fund.

After the traditional turkey dinner, served by the women of the Good Hope United Methodist Church, the members adjourned to tour the local Mac Tool, Inc., plant.

James Waddle, of the Mac Tool sales department, gave a brief introduction and history of the company before guiding a tour of the facility and explaining the toolmaking operations.

Mac Tool encompasses over 385,000 square feet of manufacturing floor space in Sabina and Washington C.H., said Waddle. He added that the projected growth of the plant is expected to double within the next 10 years.

In other business conducted, Meade Noble announced that tickets for the annual New Year's Eve event are now available to members and their guests. The yearly fruit cake sale is now in progress with nearly all cakes sold. Those wishing to purchase a cake may contact any club member, according to the president Howard Barney.

The December meeting will be featured as the club's annual ladies night and will be held in the Mahan Building. John Ely will be program chairman for the event.

Bobbie Cowman reported on the ticket sales for the 50-50 Dance to be held Nov. 30 in the Mahan Building. Music will be provided by the George Brothers and tickets are $6 per couple.

U.S., Israel face United Nations loss

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and Israel faced another defeat at the United Nations today on a vote endorsing the Palestinians' claim to nationhood at the expense of Israel.

A resolution on Palestinian rights introduced Thursday night by 38 Arab and Third World countries was assured of approval in the vote late today in the General Assembly.

The resolution affirms the Palestinians' rights to self-determination, independence and sovereignty. It also affirms their right "to return to their homes and property from which they have been displaced and uprooted" by the formation of Israel.

In addition, it recognizes the Palestine Liberation Organization as the "representative of the people of Palestine" and declares the Palestinians "a principal party in the establishment of a just and durable peace in the Middle East."

This was a direct hit at Israel's refusal to negotiate with the PLO.

A second resolution introduced by 20 Arab and six other countries would grant the PLO permanent observer status at the General Assembly and at U.N.-sponsored international conferences.

U.S. Ambassador John Scali spoke in the Palestine debate Thursday and urged that Palestinian "legitimate interests" be achieved in the give and take of the negotiating process.

Traffic Court

A local man forfeited $210 Thursday in Municipal Court on traffic charges, according to Judge Reed M. Winegardner.

Gary R. Tidd, 27, Rt. 6, forfeited $60 bond on a charge of reckless operation and $150 bond on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident in reference to the alleged striking of a construction blockade on Columbus Avenue.

Danny P. White, 18, of 518 Carolyn Road, pleaded not guilty and was fined $20 on a charge of a defective exhaust system.

Isaac Stewart, 70, of 1343 Grace St., forfeited $25 on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Judge fines three women

Municipal Court Judge Reed M. Winegardner fined three women on three separate charges of passing bad checks in on-traffic cases heard Thursday.

Bernice Hatton, 34, of 5328 US 35 NW, pleaded guilty to a charge of passing a bad check at Jeff Royal Blue and was fined $100 with the amount of the check to be paid before her release.

Annna E. Fugate, South Solon, was adjudged to make restitution through the court of $15.83 check and several other defaultive checks all totalling $98.43 to Jeff Royal Blue within two weeks. She was also fined $100 with $50 suspended for six months on the condition she make restitution to the grocer after she pleaded guilty to the charge.

Sandra Saxton, 29, Zanesville, was also fined $100 with $50 suspended for six months on the condition she make payment of a $30 insufficient check to Buckeye Mart when she pleaded guilty to the bad check charge.

Plain Dealer talks continue

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Representatives of the Plain Dealer and the striking Cleveland Newspaper Guild continued negotiations into the early hours this morning as they tried to work out an agreement to end the 22-day-old strike.

The two sides met with a federal mediator until late afternoon Thursday. Then guild negotiators left for an executive committee meeting before returning for the evening session.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Although a House subcommittee has approved a Senate bill which in part requires public access to Watergate-related White House tapes, it's uncertain if this includes broadcasting of the tapes.

"Frankly, this was a matter that just didn't come up," says Rep. John Brademus, D-Ind., chairman of a House Administration subcommittee which approved the measure this week.

The bill is intended to nullify a Sept. 6 agreement between former President Richard M. Nixon and the government concerning control by Nixon of his presidential tapes and papers.

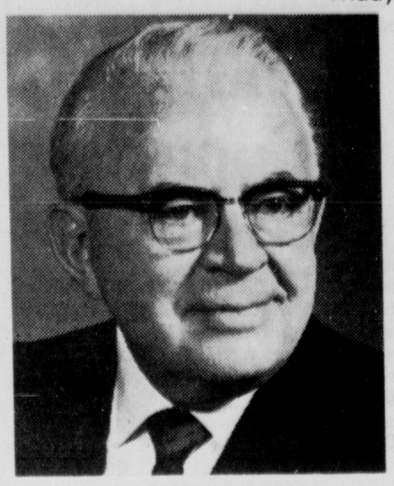

It specifically requires access to provide the public "the full truth, at the earliest reasonable date, of the abuses of governmental power popularly identified under the generic term Watergate."

But it doesn't spell out what public access means, although Brademus has said in a statement it would open Nixon's tapes and papers to "examination by scholars, journalists and the public."

The congressman, asked later by phone if this means broadcast journalists could record the tapes for airing on radio and TV, said no one even had posed that question of him until now.

"The bill provides that regulations (on access to the tapes and papers) be made by the General Services Administration, subject to congressional veto," he said.

"In my view, it wouldn't be wise to try to spell out every regulation in the bill. But I think its language is broad enough to allow the GSA to propose regulations that would permit the broadcasting of the tapes."

DR. DONALD SNOW

Speaker set

Dr. Donald E. Snow of Grand Rapids, Mich., will be the guest speaker at revival services Nov. 25 - Dec. 1 at the First Church of the Nazarene, Route 41 South.

ADMINISTRATRIX SALE
3 WASHINGTON C.H. PROPERTIES
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1974

SELL ON PREMISES 12:00 NOON; 12:30 P.M.; 1:00 P.M.

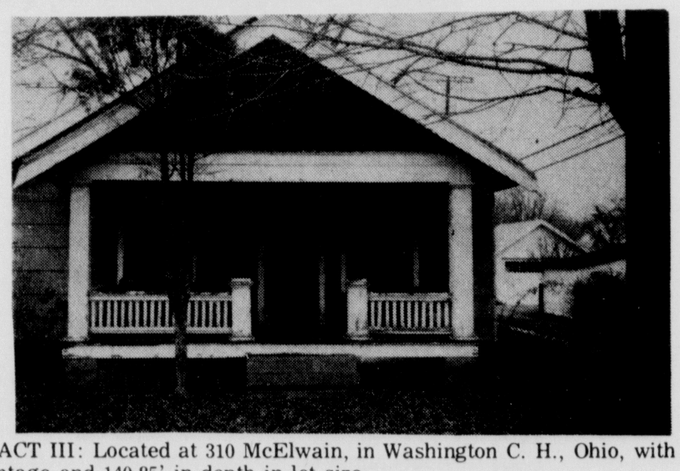

TRACT I: Located at 703 Broadway, Washington C. H., Ohio, with 88½' frontage and 125' depth in lot size.

This one floor plan, six room residence should be given a bit of study for an investment or home of your own. Forced air gas furnace. Full bath. Garage. Fenced in yard. Remember, there isn't too many for sale on Broadway for less than $10,000. Maybe you could use this as a starter. Appraised at $9,300 and must not sell for less than two-thirds.

TRACT II: Located at 831 John Street, Washington C. H., Ohio, with 41¼' frontage and 112' in depth in lot size. At the corner of Flint Drive.

Such a one floor plan, frame residence as this, could be for the do-it-yourself people interested in an investment or home of their own property. Five rooms with full bath and gas floor furnace, is the basic arrangement inside, all of which needs revamping, in the way of decorating throughout. No garage. Appraised at $6,500 and must not sell for less than two-thirds.

TRACT III: Located at 310 McElwain, in Washington C. H., Ohio, with 41¼' frontage and 140.85' in depth in lot size.

This five room, one floor plan, residence does have much to offer, especially in this location with the trees and garage (12'x18') on this handy size lot. Partial basement with furnace (not in working condition). Roof appears to be good, but does have small leak here and there. The 110 electric may need an inspection. The bathroom. . . .well, it needs some improvements. Appraised at $5,000 and must not sell for less than two-thirds.

INSPECTION: Call selling agents, phone 335-2210.
POSSESSION: On passing of deed.
TERMS: 10 per cent down day of sale, and balance of purchase price upon delivery of deed, within 30 days for each tract.

Panthers to rely on youth

By LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Miami Trace's basketball team can be compared with a bottle of wine. With a youth movement under way for the Panthers, the end result will certainly pay off as the youngsters get a few games under their belts.

Senior Phil Skinner, a 5-foot-9 guard, is the only returning letterman on the team. According to Creamer, Skinner is an excellent floor general with outstanding quickness. Being the only letterman on the team has given Skinner the additional responsibility of trying to help out the new additions to the team.

Other seniors on the team include Mark Spears, a 5-foot-10 guard; Randy Rhonemus, a 6-foot-6 center; and Robin Zurface, a six-foot forward.

Creamer said Spears gives a super effort every time he takes the floor. Although he is not very quick, Spears is an excellent shooter and moves the ball well.

Rhonemus is considered to be the key to the Panthers' fortunes this year. The senior center has improved greatly from last year and has a tremendous desire to play. Not being a gifted shooter, his role will be to rebound and shoot close in. When he plays out high, his main duty will be to feed the other players. Creamer said the mistakes Rhonemus makes will be due to lack of experience.

Zurface makes up for his lack of quickness with his outside shooting ability. The Panther coaching staff thinks he needs to become more aggressive and go to the boards with more determination.

"I have 11 players on this team and all 11 are going to see a lot of playing time," Creamer pointed out. "Some of the seniors know they will not be starting all of the time, but they still have been showing great leadership and helping the younger players."

Being a small team presents a major problem for the Panthers, especially if Rhonemus fails to do the job at the post. Junior John Schlichter, who is 6-foot-3, serves as the backup to Rhonemus. Schlichter weighs almost 20 pounds more than Rhonemus, but he still needs to work on his aggressiveness on the boards.

Juniors Greg Cobb and Alan Conner are fighting for starting berths at forward. Cobb, who is six-foot, has been a pleasant surprise with his shooting and he is an excellent rebounder, but his defense still needs improvement. According to Creamer, Conner, who is 5-foot-11, is the type of player who makes things happen on the court. He rebounds and drives well for his size.

Creamer is extremely happy with the equalness of all the guards on his team. In addition to Skinner and Spears, juniors Rod Garringer and Gary English have been working as guards.

Garringer, who is 5-foot-9, is considered to be the best perimeter shooter among the guards. He has exceptional quickness and is very aggressive.

Lack of experience is the only thing holding English back. With increased playing time, Creamer said English will come around for the Panthers.

Gifford, who is six-foot, goes to the boards real well and is a hardnosed player on offense. He is being forced to mature and accept responsibility real fast.

Rated as a tremendous passer and possessing great quickness on defense, Schlichter, who is also six-foot, is considered to be a very deceiving player. As a guard, Schlichter also gives the Panthers decent rebounding strength and he also has the tendencies to be a great shooter.

Creamer thinks his boys proved in the preview that they can play with anybody in the league. With the young players on the team, the Panthers, who were 11-8 and finished in second place in the South Central Ohio League last season, must cut down on mistakes and adjust to crowd pressure.

"Naturally, we have some shortcomings," Creamer related. "Nobody really expects us to be a contender. However, with the type of players we have and the team unity they possess, I expect us to be in the thick of things."

"Our cohesiveness is outstanding," the Panther mentor continued. "The boys do not care who does the scoring as long as they hit the open man. They will not give one of their teammates a chance to get his head down."

"This is the type of team I enjoy coaching," Creamer indicated. "The pressure is always on the opponent because we will be the underdog in all of our games. Everything we do well is spoiling the game for the other team."

In addition to playing a very rugged league schedule, Creamer says his team has one of the toughest non-league slates in the area. London, Chillicothe, Franklin Heights and Bishop Hartley are all considered to go a long way on the tournament trail this season.

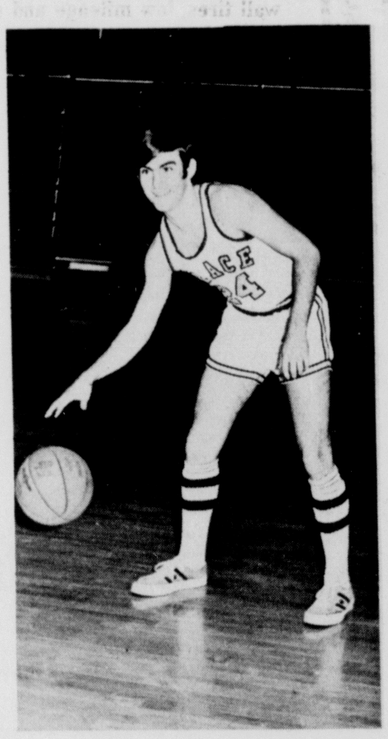

Miami Trace will be opening its cage season at home, Saturday evening. Springfield Northeastern, a team which is considered to have equal size, will be the Panthers' opponents.

In the league opener on Tuesday, Miami Trace will help Greenfield inaugurate the Tigers' new 2,400 seat gymnasium. Creamer considers Greenfield, Circleville, Unioto and Washington Court House to be the top contenders for the SCOL crown.

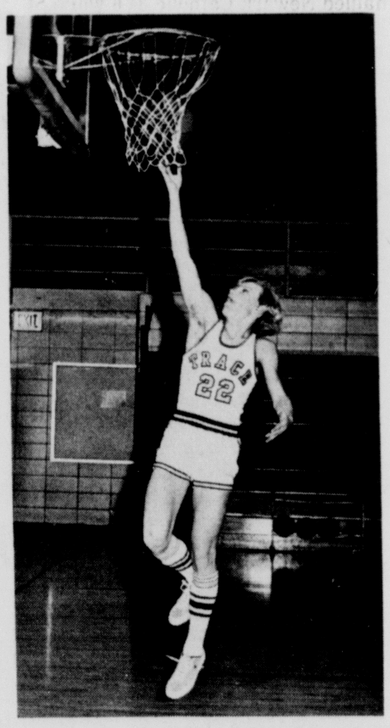

Most people think the defense-minded Panthers will have to play the role of the spoiler this season. However, with their team unity and scrappiness, the Panthers could very possibly make this a brighter year than expected.

Columbus showdown heads grid picture

By KEN RAPPOPORT
APs Sports Writer

The Michigan Wolverines and Ohio State Buckeyes, bullies of the Big Ten and just about everyone else, meet Saturday to settle a league championship, a Rose Bowl berth and some personal differences.

It's the biggest game of the season for these two superpowers, who love to hate each other.

The undefeated Wolverines and once-beaten Buckeyes, ranked Nos. 3 and 4 in the country and 1-2 in the Big Ten, meet in their heralded battle at Columbus, Ohio, before an expected sellout crowd of 88,000 and a national television audience of millions more.

It's a similar situation to last year, when both teams were ranked high and met in the last game of the regular season for the right to play against the winner of the Pacific-8 Conference at Pasadena on New Year's Day.

They struggled to a 10-10 tie in 1973 and Ohio State was picked by Big Ten officials to go the Rose Bowl for the second straight year. The decision, quite naturally, outraged Michigan officials, including Coach Bo Schemblecher, who's waited a year for a return shot at the Buckeyes.

Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes, meanwhile, has no love for the Buckeyes' chief antagonists. He never mentions Michigan by name, but refers only to "that school up north," and refuses to buy gasoline from a filling station across the state line or even eat in a restaurant up there.

The winner of that bone-buster will land a Rose Bowl berth against the winner of the Southern California-UCLA game. The Trojans, ranked No. 8 in the country, hope to go to the Rose Bowl for the third straight season. They've beaten the Buckeyes once and lost another time in the last two years.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 1 Oklahoma meets No. 6 Nebraska in a collision of Big Eight powers; Air Force visits No. 5 Notre Dame; No. 11 Maryland takes on Virginia; Iowa is at No. 14 Michigan State, only team to beat Ohio State this year, and Stanford plays California, the 19th-ranked team in the country.

Ohio State is a nine-point favorite to beat Michigan, probably because of the home-field advantage. But the Buckeyes will be in trouble defensively if Neal Colzie doesn't get well in a hurry.

Colzie, the key man in Ohio State's secondary, was hospitalized Thursday with a temperature of 101 degrees and a throat infection. A team doctor wouldn't rule Colzie out of the showdown game, however.

If Southern Cal beats UCLA, the Pac-8 race is all over for 1974. It can still end up in a three-way tie with Southern Cal, UCLA and Stanford and the Rose Bowl representative would then have to be determined on overall record. The Trojans would then have to beat Notre Dame one week later to gain a Rose Bowl berth.

But, naturally, Southern Cal Coach John McKay would like to settle matters Saturday.

"I'm not thinking about any formulas," he said. "Our answer is to win the game with UCLA. If we're not good enough to win it, then we don't deserve to go to the Rose Bowl."

Blazers, Hawaiians post WFL victories

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

The World Football League, hoping to attract to its post-season games some of those paying fans who stayed away in droves during the regular season, kicked off its playoffs Thursday night with Florida and the Hawaiians posting victories.

The Blazers dumped the Philadelphia Bell 18-3 and the Hawaiians topped the Southern California Sun 32-14. But if the WFL is looking to the playoffs to patch up some of the financial leaks in its rapidly sinking ship, it better look again.

Sun officials announced a paid crowd of only 11,430 in a light rain at Anaheim, the team's lowest turnout of the year, while just 9,712 fans showed up in Orlando for the Blazers' game.

Meanwhile, the WFL's financial picture, none too bright to start with, got still bleaker Thursday as the Internal Revenue Service continued to lean all over the league. The IRS filed a $105,551 lien against the Jacksonville Sharks, claiming the club owes at least that much in back taxes.

The IRS earlier had filed liens against Birmingham and Portland, and a spokesman said if the WFL teams do not make good on the money, the IRS could foreclose on the franchises.

The IRS claims Birmingham owes 237,000 in back taxes and has reportedly filed a claim for an additional $160,000 against owner Bill Putnam. The city, county, state and a local bank also have lodged claims against the Americans.

The IRS is after Portland to the tune of $168,000.

Players, many of whom haven't been paid in weeks, were supposed to divide 70 per cent of Thursday night's gate receipts among them. Florida and Philadelphia players were expected to get about $743 each while Hawaiian and Southern Cal players were supposed to get $662 apiece.

Both Memphis and Birmingham drew first-round byes. Memphis hosts Florida next Friday while Birmingham entertains Hawaii next Wednesday. The winners will meet in the World Bowl Thurs., Dec. 5, at a site to be determined later.

Florida got all the points it needed to win the first time Philadelphia got the ball. Bell running back Claude Watts fumbled on his own 32-yard line, Blazer safety Rickie Harris scooped the ball up and raced 32 yards for a touchdown.

Quarterback Bob Davis connected with Greg Latta on a 45-yard pass play for the other Blazer TD and Dave Strock added a 24-yard field goal. Jerry Warren accounted for the Philadelphia offense with a 37-yard field goal.

Southern California got off to a rocky start even before the kickoff when running back Kermit Johnson, the team's leading rusher, and guard Booker Brown failed to show up for the game. No reason was given for the absence of the two rookies, but Coach Tom Fears said both were suspended.

The Hawaiians raced to a 17-0 lead and were never headed. Al Davis ran for a pair of short-yardage touchdowns and Randy Johnson tossed two scoring passes for the winners.

Miami, Georgia in Tangerine Bowl

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Miami of Ohio will meet the University of Georgia in the Dec. 21 Tangerine Bowl football game.

The Southeastern Conference school's athletic board voted Thursday to accept an invitation to appear in the postseason game at Orlando, Fla.

Miami was 6-0 in the Mid-American Conference and 9-0 overall and has the nation's second longest unbeaten streak of 22 games.

Three teams tied in golf

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Two ailing Englishmen, a pair of long-hitting Japanese and a diminutive South African backed by his partner sought to break a three-way team tie today in the second round of the 22nd annual World Cup Golf Tournament.

England's Peter Townshend and Maurice Bembridge, Japan's Masashi Ozaki and Isao Aoki and South Africa's Bobby Cole and Dale Hayes all shot three-under-par 137s Thursday in the opening round of the tournament at the 6,763-yard, par-72 Lagunita Country Club course.

Cole shot a 66 to take the lead in the individual standings, followed by Ozaki with 67 and Townshend and Ramon Munoz of Venezuela with 68s.

Scores in the four-day tournament are being kept on both an individual and team basis. The team competition is based on the best two-man total for 72 holes. The player with the low 72-hole score will be the individual winner.

Vancouver Ganucks edge Philadelphia

By The Associated Press

The wild confrontation between two of the hottest teams in the National Hockey League was almost a standoff. Almost, but not quite.

"I wouldn't want to go through a game like that every night," said Vancouver Coach Phil Maloney Thursday night after the Canucks edged the Philadelphia Flyers 4-3 on Chris Odleifson's last-ditch goal.

Perez could be Reds' trade bait

CINCINNATI (AP) — Veteran first baseman Tony Perez, averaging more than 100 runs batted in for the last eight seasons, may be the trade bait to solve the Cincinnati Reds' chronic problems at third base and on the pitching mound.

Bob Howsam, Reds' president and general manager, however, in characteristic fashion, is downplaying trade rumors as he prepares for baseball's winter meetings next week at New Orleans.

But Howsam admitted the Reds have received Perez' word that he won't stand in the way of any trades. As a 10-year veteran, Perez has the right to approve or refuse a trade involving him.

"I've said we don't have any plans to trade Pete Rose this year and I certainly don't see anything else in the making," said Howsam.

"But nobody's untouchable. You have to take that approach because it might take half a franchise to get what you need."

The Reds finished second to the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League West in 1974, despite their 93 victories. That would have been good enough to win any of the other three divisions in baseball.

"We're going to be very careful," said Howsam. He is reluctant to trade away the heart of a club which has won three division titles in five years but has not won a World Series.

However, Howsam said, "We've got to think of the future."

Perez has batted in an average of more than 100 runs per season in the last eight years, but he will be 33 in May. His batting average dropped from .314 in 1973 to .265 in 1974, his lowest since 1967.

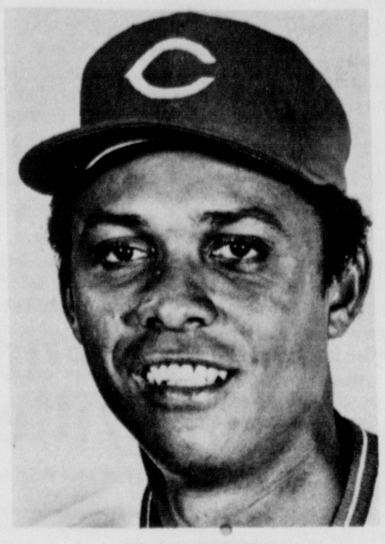

The 6-foot-2 first baseman, who has a .288 career batting average, waived his 10-year trade approval clause during a meeting with Howsam shortly after the end of the season.

Howsam revealed he discussed deals with a number of other teams but nothing came of the talks.

"We're interested in a third baseman," Howsam said, "but we also think we may have the talent in our own organization. We definitely want to improve defensively," he said.

"And, we're looking for more consistent pitching."

A poor defensive showing by Dan Driessen at third, a position once held by Perez, has prompted reports that Manager Sparky Anderson would like to move Driessen to first, his normal position.

Rams looking for championship

Monday night was very good to the Oakland Raiders. The Los Angeles Rams hope it'll be good to them, too. But both teams will have to be good on Sunday.

Last Sunday, the Raiders defeated San Diego 17-10 to clinch at least a tie for the American Conference's West Division title, then locked it up outright when the runner-up Denver Broncos lost to visiting Kansas City on Monday night.

Now it's the Rams' chance. They can clinch a tie for the National Conference West title with a victory over the Minnesota Vikings. And if they get past that first big hurdle, they can lock it up if the runner-up New Orleans Saints lose to visiting Pittsburgh on Monday night.

The Rams won't be the only team on the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum turf with visions of titles dancing in their heads. The Vikings, too, can lock up a crown of their own, in the NFC's Central Division, and they can do it Sunday — but they need a lot more help. It'll take a Minnesota victory and losses by the Packers and Lions to sew it up.

The Rams and Vikes own identical 8-3 records — just as they owned identical 6-0 records when they met in 1973. "It's going to be interesting, just like last year," says Minnesota Coach Brant.

Grant would no doubt like the outcome to be the same as a year ago. The Vikings stayed unbeaten, edging Los Angeles 10-9, and ran their perfect string to nine in a row before losing to Atlanta.

"We haven't played against James Harris before," Grant said of the Rams' quarterback. "But from what we've seen, he certainly has a strong arm."

The Vikes have one, too, of course, in Fran Tarkenton, the No. 5 passer in the NFC just behind Harris. But both teams will probably rely more on strong legs.

The Rams have Lawrence McCutcheon, the league's rushing leader with 887 yards. He's also caught 26 passes for 278 yards, bringing his total yardage for the year to 1,165. The Vikes have Chuck Foreman, No. 3 in the NFC with 667. And Foreman has caught 39 passes for 455 yards, bringing his total yardage to 1,122.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, are in a dogfight in the NFC East, leading Washington by one game. The Cards are seven-point favorites to beat the Giants — but New York has always been a tough team for them, having won 46 of the 64 games they've played.

The Redskins, hoping to extend Philadelphia's nosedive to six games, are coming off a hard-fought 28-21 victory over Dallas, their sixth triumph in seven games, and are in a strong position to take the NFC's wild-card playoff spot.

The Cowboys are all but out of the playoff picture. If they fail to get in, it will be the first time in nine years. Houston is riding the crest of a four-game winning streak and hopes to knock off Dallas, which routed the Oilers 56-10 four years ago in the teams' only previous meeting.

The Dolphins have won five in a row, a run that has carried them to the top of the AFC East, one game ahead of Buffalo. The Jets have won their last two with Joe Namath throwing a pair of touchdowns in each. The Bills need a victory to assure temselves of staying within striking distance of Miami and at least a game ahead of new England and Cincinnati in the AFC wild-card race. The Browns are in danger of suffering their first losing season in 18 years.

The Patriots are struggling to stay in the playoff picture, having dropped three in a row. And they're facing a Baltimore squad which pulled itself together last week for its first victory in four games.

The Bengals, invading Kansas City, are in a shaky position, having lost two in a row to fall 1½ games back of first place in the AFC Central Division. John Hadl, now in a Green Bay uniform, faces his former San Diego teammates while Chargers' rookie Don Woods faces what could have been Packers' teammates. Woods was cut by the Pack before the season began and, with San Diego, has rushed for 790 yards, fourth best in the AFC and better than anyone on Green Bay.

The Bears will try once again to score a touchdown, something they haven't done in nearly five full games. The Lions have won five of their last six to claw their way back into playoff contention.

The Broncos fell out of the playoff race with their Monday night loss, taking the steam out of their game against Oakland, whom they were expected to challenge for the AFC West title.

Marion Campbell is still looking for his first victory as coach of the Falcons, who have lost five in row. They'll have to stop rookie quarterback Tom Owen, who passed for 313 yards and two touchdowns in the 49ers' 34-0 rout of the Bears a week ago that ended San Francisco's seven-game spin.

Harding, Arlington vie for AAA crown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Second-ranked Warren Harding unleashes its speed against No. 3 Upper Arlington's power tonight for the Class AAA state high school football crown.

"They have the fastest three backs I've ever seen on one high school team," Upper Arlington Coach Pete Corey said of his championship opponent in the Akron Rubber Bowl.

Harding mentor Ed Glass admitted, "Upper Arlington is so strong. It will be our speed against their strength."

Upper Arlington carries an 11-0-0 record against Harding, whose only loss in 11 games was to Canton McKinley 19-6.

The Class AA championship game in Dayton's Welcome Stadium tonight pits No. 6 Louisville Aquinas (9-0-2) against No. 8 Norwalk (10-1-1).

In Class A, Middletown Fenwick seeks a second straight playoff championship. The Falcons, second ranked, match a 10-0-1 record against ninthrated Fremont St. Joseph (9-2-0) at Upper Arlington High School tonight.

Harding's swift trio is wingback Tyrone Hicks, with 9.7 100-yard dash speed; and quarterback Jim Richburg and tailback John Ziegler, both with 10-flat quickness.

"We think we can handle them inside, but their speed is awesome," said Corey, mapping a ball-control attack to offset the Panthers' strength.

Hicks' 34-yard touchdown run jumped Harding ahead 12-10 against Cincinnati Moeller in the semifinals last week. The Panthers posted a 20-10 upset of the No. 1-ranked Crusaders.

Meanwhile, Upper Arlington, which has won the Central Ohio League six of the last seven seasons, ousted New Philadelphia 27-7.

In Class AA semifinals, Norwalk upset top-ranked Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary 20-7 and Louisville Aquinas eliminated Cincinnati Mariemont 19-7.

FILLS THE BILL

This older well maintained home will fill your needs as it offers: a large living room with an open fireplace, a formal dining room, a large kitchen with loads of wall cabinets and working space plus a pantry and storage room for your deep freeze, a nice size bedroom, a den or TV room or an additional bedroom and a full bath all downstairs.

The basement affords 220 electric hookup for your washer and dryer, a new hot water heater, a gas hot air furnace, plus much additional work or storage space.

This all carpeted home with its larger rooms and decor will give you the restful feeling of living in a home not just a house.

Let us show you this home being offered at $24,900 today — tomorrow might be too late, since this type home is not offered on the selling market everyday.

Mondale bows out of 1976 race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale has become the second drop-out of the 1976 Democratic presidential race, leaving liberal Democrats at least temporarily without a well-known contender.

Mondale announced his withdrawal Thursday just a few hours after Sen. Henry M. Jackson, who has strong support from party regulars and organized labor, disclosed he has hired a key party organizer for his anticipated candidacy.

The Jackson recruit was Robert J. Keefe, 40-year-old executive director of the Democratic National Committee. He will become political director of the still unofficial Jackson campaign Dec. 1.

That will enable him to take charge of the Washington senator's effort at the party's Dec. 6 mini-convention in Kansas City. Candidates and potential candidates will display their wares in Kansas City for some 3,000 top Democrats, many of them likely 1976 convention delegates.

Coming less than two months after the September withdrawal of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Mondale's surprise decision left Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona as the most visible, current liberal candidate against Jackson when the presidential primaries begin 16 months from now.

In fact, Udall's progress in snaring support of key liberals in New Hampshire, the traditional opening primary, was reported to be one factor in Mondale's decision. However, the Minnesota senator insisted, "This is a personal decision on my part and had nothing to do with any other candidate."

Udall is expected to formally declare himself in the presidential race in New Hampshire this weekend. He would be the first official entrant in what will likely be a large Democratic field by early 1976.

Both Jackson and Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia are expected to announce their candidacies next month. Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen of Texas is another likely candidate, former Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma has spent considerable time in New Hampshire, and Mayor Kevin White of Boston may run there too.

And Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama has made no secret of his plans for a fourth presidential bid.

The Harris poll reported Thursday that Wallace is the most familiar Democratic prospect and the first choice by a slender margin. A poll of 1,265 potential Democratic and independent voters found 93 per cent knew of Wallace and he was the first choice of 19 per cent. He was followed by 1972 contenders Sens. George McGovern of South Dakota and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

Mondale, too, had been considered a likely contender, ever since his Minnesota colleague, Hubert H. Humphrey, proclaimed him a future candidate as Mondale swept to re-election in 1972.

But he disclosed at his news conference that as he proceeded his doubts grew. "I found I did not have the overwhelming desire to be President which is essential for the kind of campaign that is required," Mondale said.

Kennedy said he thought "the nation is poorer for the decision he has made." Humphrey said that he had encouraged Mondale to stay in the race and that he regretted Mondale's decision.

Security guard shot to death

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A supermarket security guard, 52-year-old Homer Bailey of Cleveland, was shot to death Thursday in an incident police said today left them puzzled.

A Cleveland homicide detective said police have no evidence indicating a robbery attempt. "We don't know why" Bailey was slain, he added.

Miller sees UMW approval of pact

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller said Thursday he thinks the union's 120,000 bituminous coal miners will ratify a proposed contract if a few changes can be made during renewed negotiations with coal producers.

"It's the very best contract that's ever been negotiated in the labor movement," Miller said, although the 39-member UMW Bargaining Council recommended it undergo "some minor adjustments" before being submitted to striking miners for ratification.

The chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, Guy Farmer, said the operators do not intend to reopen the talks, but Miller said he hasn't been officially informed of that decision.

While not rejecting the contract outright, the Bargaining Council's decision to withhold it from member ratification still means the nationwide strike will probably continue into a fourth week. Miller said areas needing revision include vacations, jurisdiction, work rules and a wage package.

Miller added that some miners believe a right to strike clause should be included, but he said it wasn't needed. "I think there is considerable interest because of the way grievances were handled in the past," Miller said, but added "we've got a streamlined grievance procedure" that negates the need for a right to strike clause.

"I believe we can solve the problems without resorting to a right to strike. I don't see there will be a real need," Miller said.

"I'd be delighted to work under this contract," he added. "I like the fringe benefit areas. We've had so much catching up to do . . . in a short period of time up the road, our membership will have the best retirement program in the labor movement in this country."

But Miller, here for a news conference, talked to some West Virginia miners who think the contract could be better.

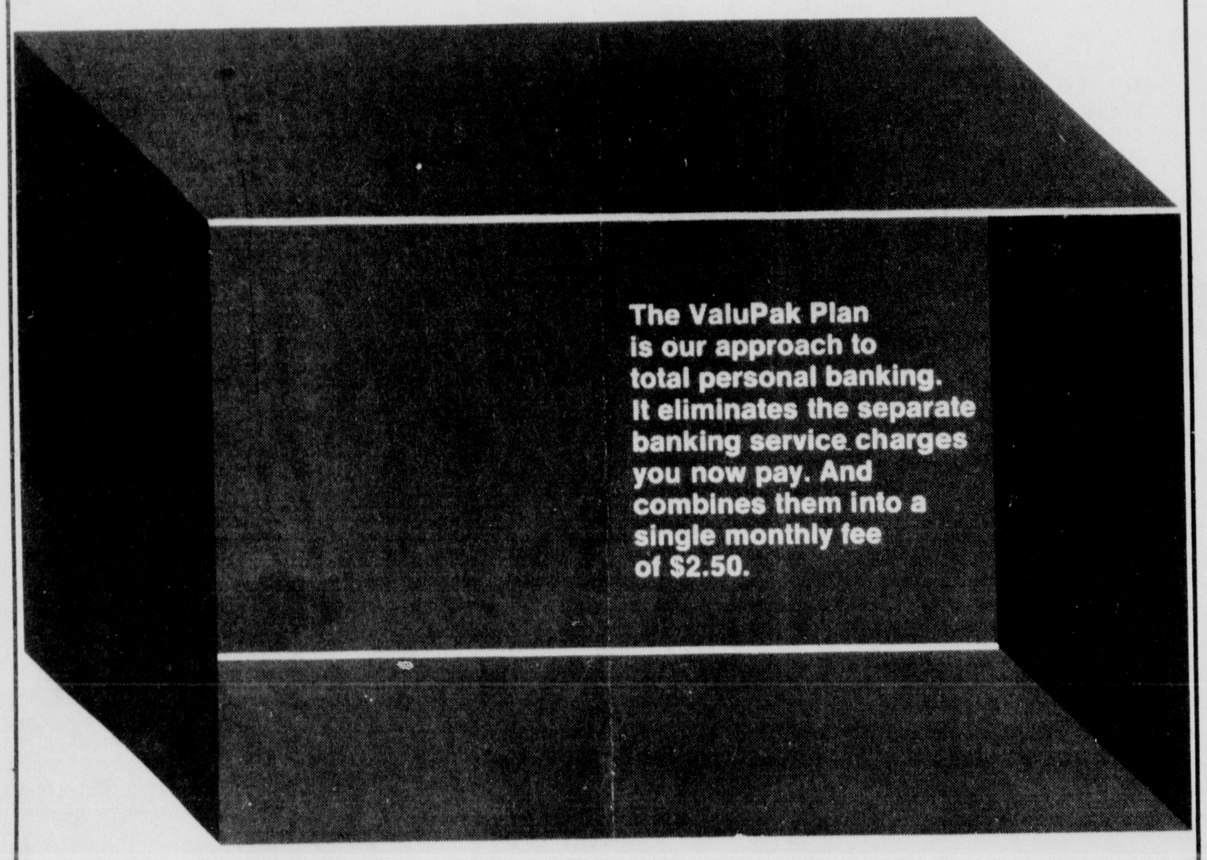

The UMW president said he was not trying to sell the present contract but wanted to put an end to rumors from "false prophets. That's why I'm here," he said.

ASSEMBLY REQUIRED — The corner of Columbus Avenue and Blackstone Street Thursday evening looked somewhat like a father's living room floor in the wee hours of a Christmas morning. Contractors for the new Blue Drummer steak house spread out an array of parts which are ready for assembly. By inserting post A into slot B and repeating the process several times, the parts will form a home for the new restaurant — with no parts left over.

Pentagon cuts 11,600 jobs

Nationwide base closings bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today announced a coast-to-coast reshuffling and reduction of military bases and headquarters that will eliminate about 11,600 civilian jobs and transfer 11,500 Army and Air Force personnel over the next 2½ years.

The moves are aimed chiefly at shifting about $300 million a year from support functions to increased combat capability. The uniformed personnel will be switched to combat and combat-related assignments.

The 110 "base realignment actions," as the Pentagon called them, will affect dozens of installations.

But only two major bases were ordered closed — the Army's Frankford Arsenal in Philadelphia and Ellington Air Force Base, Houston, Tex.

One congressional source said about half of the civilian employes offered transfers could be expected to quit their defense jobs rather than relocate.

Many Army, Air Force and Defense Supply Agency depots, laboratories and offices will lose manpower and womanpower, but some will gain.

Net losses will range from about 2,000 civilian jobs at the Frankford Arsenal to as few as a dozen in some small offices, officials said.

Beside the Frankford Arsenal, the biggest losers will be Ellington, Pueblo Army Depot, Colo.; Blue Grass Army Depot, Lexington, Ky.; Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome, N.Y.; and Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base near Kansas City, Mo. Officials said civilian jobs will be reduced by a net of at least 1,000 at each base.

Cutbacks hit 2 Ohio bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, says changes planned at two Air Force bases in Ohio "appear to be well thought out to achieve greatest economy and improved management."

Shifts in personnel, equipment and facilities at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton and Rickenbacker Air Force Base near Columbus were disclosed by Taft Thursday.

The moves are part of nationwide cutback and relocation plans the Defense Department was expected to announce today.

Taft said a bombardment wing will be deactivated at Wright-Patterson to provide space for consolidation there of Air Force System Command laboratories and Flight Test and Aircraft Modification Resources.

The action will result in a net reduction of 525 military personnel and an increase of 685 civilian manpower authorizations.

"This should result in personnel and payroll increases in the Dayton area as well as economies and efficiencies for the Air Force," Taft said.

Plans to shift tanker operations from regular to Air National Guard units at Rickenbacker, Taft said, is a move he has long supported.

That move will result in a decrease of 495 active military personnel at Rickenbacker.

At Wright-Patterson, the 17th Bombardment Wing of the Strategic Air Command will be inactivated, with its B-52 and KC-135 aircraft transferred to other locations during the next year.

Air Force Systems Command flight test aircraft at Elgin AFB in Florida and Edwards AFB in California will be consolidated with similar resources at Wright-Patterson.

The Air Force Avionics Laboratory, Air Force Materials Laboratory, Air Force Flight Dynamics Laboratory and Air Force Aero-Propulsion Laboratory will be consolidated into a single organization at Wright-Patterson.

Major activities and functions of the Rome Air Development Center at Griffis AFB in New York will be relocated at Wright-Patterson.

The Defense Department says consolidation of like-type flight test operations and reorganization of the Air Force laboratories will result in significant savings through reduced overhead costs, according to Taft.

At Rickenbacker, the 32nd Air Refueling Squadron will be inactivated next summer and its 15 KC-135s transferred to the Air National Guard. At the same time, the 160th Air Refueling Group will convert from KC-97 to KC-135 aircraft.

Those actions, along with the inactivation of the SAC unit at Wright-Patterson, are in accordance with the Air Force's plans to move the Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve toward increased responsiveness and combat readiness.

A former professional basketball player traced his career and shared a number of other experiences and stories during the annual meeting of the Fayette County Area Bankers Association Thursday in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairground.

Adrian Smith, who spent nearly a decade with the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association, told the bankers and other guests that the game of basketball provided him with a college education, a chance for extensive travel, taught him the real meaning of sportsmanship, respect and sacrifice in addition to determination, confidence and a continued effort to improve.

ADRIAN SMITH

SMITH, an extremely humble person who is now associated with Central Trust Co., Cincinnati, was one of six children raised on a 50-acre farm near Farmington, Ky., a whistle stop in the western part of the state.

The first real basketball Smith ever played with was purchased by his family on money raised from the farm's tobacco crop.

He was one of 13 students in his senior class and following high school Smith entered a junior college in Mississippi. "I enjoyed junior college because it gave me the opportunity to play about 40 games per year," Smith said.

After two years at the junior college, Smith was recruited by scouts at the University of Kentucky, where he played under the legendary Adolph Rupp.

"We won the NCAA championship during my senior year in 1958 and had a center who is now a Methodist minister and he couldn't score a lick but was one of the team's top players," Smith recalled.

After averaging 11 points a game for Kentucky during his senior year, Smith joined the U.S. Army and after only one week in the military was sent to San Francisco for a tryout for the All-Army team. "We competed against other branches of the service and pretty soon an all-service team was formed," he said. The service team later became known as the Pan-American team and played in Chicago against teams from Latin America.

In 1960, while still serving in the military, Smith became a member of what he termed "the greatest amateur team ever" for the Olympic games in Rome. The team included such stars as Jerry West, Oscar Robertson, Jerry Lucas, Walt Bellamy, Terry Dischinger, Darrell Imhoff and Bob Boozer. Nine of the team members eventually turned pro and five played with the Royals at one time.

Smnith said he was stirred emotionally when the National Anthem was played before more than 125,000 persons from 80 countries during the opening of the Olympic games and was also extremely excited by the gold medal presentations to the team members.

"It was really a wonderful two years in the Army," Smith related in noting that all practically all his military duty was spent on the hardwood.

He joined the Cincinnati Royals in 1961 and spent eight and a half years with the team playing in the backcourt with Oscar Robertson, whom he called "one of the greatest of all times."

THE FORMER pro basketball guard, who has been in the banking business for the past one and a half years, said one of the greatest thrills of his life is the Adrian Smith Basketball League for underprivileged children in eastern Cincinnati. He said the six-team league is operated by an elderly man on a budget of $8900

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan has admitted in a private memo to aides that he resorted to distortions "if not lying outright" when he told the public no additional taxes would be necessary in the next administration.

And he said the fact that nobody believed him was a contributing factor in his defeat by Republican former Gov. James A. Rhodes in the Nov. 5 election.

The disclosures were made in a memo obtained by the Dayton Journal Herald's Columbus correspondent, Hugh McDiarmid, and published in a copyrighted story in the newspaper's Friday morning editions.

The six-page memo to nine top staffers and campaign aides was dictated by Gilligan on Nov. 10 during his six-day post-election stay in Florida but was not distributed until after he returned to Ohio.

Gilligan said the fact that he agreed to adopt a no-new-taxes stand was why he "wriggled and squirmed as the press roasted me with question after question on general revenues, educational revenues, gasoline taxes and so forth.

"That is one reason that I became in many instances defensive and querulous and furious."

The outgoing governor started out the memo by saying, "First of all, it was MY FAULT." He blames himself for falling into "the oldest of traps" for political candidates—resorting to expediency in order to win.

"I wanted to win so badly that I persuaded myself that I could run this campaign in a defensive crouch and that in fact it would be far safer to do so than to run the risk of 'losing my temper' or making some rash statement. So, in fact, I said nothing."

This posture, according to Gilligan, resulted in his being dishonest with the people.

"... What I gave them was something considerably less than the truth, and I permitted myself to be persuaded that was the course of prudence, because I was afraid the people could not handle the truth, and if I presented them with it, I would lose, and I wanted very much to win," Gilligan wrote.

Gilligan acknowledged that: "Whatever also may be said, a quick glance at the election returns indicates one fact quite clearly—I was really beat to a pulp."

He notes the unusual election results that showed he ran behind most of the rest of the Democratic slate.

"Thousands of people who voted for the Democrats running for high office declined to mark their ballots for me," he wrote.

Community Chest hits 80 per cent of goal

The 1975 Community Chest drive, which officially concluded last Friday, has increased to 80 per cent this week, according to Otis R. Hess Jr., president of the Community Chest board of directors.

Hess stated that follow-up calls are still being made and indications are favorable for reaching the established goal of $28,000.

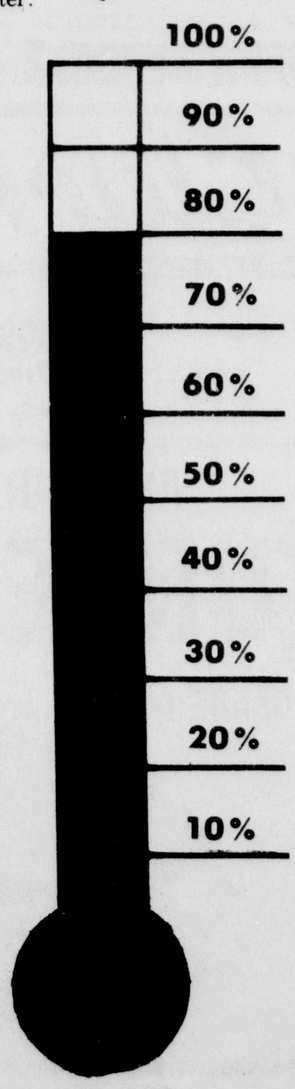

Pam Landrum, secretary-treasurer for this year's Community Chest campaign, stated that to date $22,375.85 has been contributed toward the 1975 goal. The $22,000 figure represents 80 per cent of the goal.

MISS LANDRUM said late contributions are still being received at the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce office and that this week's largest contributor was the Mead Container Corp., with a donation of $992.60.

The Red Feather Club, which includes businesses, individuals, or industries contributing $100 or more, has increased to 48 members.

Additional members are the G.C. Murphy Co., K-Mart, the Dayton Power and Light Co., and employes, the city of Washington C.H. employes, the Mead Container Corp. and employes, the Fayette County Highway Department employes, Landmark feed plant employes, the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., and employes, Redman Industries, Inc., and employes, Cor Tec, Inc., and employes and the Ohio Water Service Co.

The Community Chest funds will benefit a total of 10 participating agencies. The agencies are the Boy Scouts, the Camp Fire Girls, the Community Activity Fund, the Community Education program, the Girl Scouts, the Mental Health Association, Eyman Park, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army and the Senior Citizens Center.

Coverup prosecution end nears

WASHINGTON (AP) — After 6½ weeks of hearing 26 witnesses and more than 20 hours of White House tapes, the prosecution in the Watergate coverup trial is ready to rest its case.

Four final prosecution witnesses, including former White House aide Egil "Bud" Krogh, are scheduled to testify today before the defense begins its case, probably on Monday.

In White House tapes presented Thursday, former President Richard M. Nixon was heard at least five times expressing worry that former White House counsel John W. Dean III may have secretly carried a tape recorder under his armpit during a March 21, 1973 meeting. Dean and Nixon talked at that meeting about paying money to the original Watergate defendants.

Concerned because Dean had begun cooperating with Watergate investigators in early April 1973, Nixon asked coverup defendant H.R. Haldeman on the evening of April 25 if there was any way Dean "might have walked in there (to the White House Oval Office) with a recorder on him?"

Haldeman dismisses the likelihood, but Nixon persists in examining the possibility because he was curious about what Dean may have told prosecutors about the March 21 discussion of $1 million in potential hush money requirements.

"I'd think that it's a little, it's, it's, even the smallest ones are bulky enough that you mean, with a fellow like Dean you'd sort of see that, wouldn't you? Where do you carry them, in your hip pocket or your breast pocket?"

Haldeman: "Oh, under your arm, you know, where they carry a pistol holster or something."

Nixon, who had earlier described a possible Dean tape recording as "a real bomb," went on to speculate how Dean's word would stand up against that of a president's.

Nixon: "Oh well, on that we'll destroy him (Dean)."

On another of the four tapes heard by the jury Thursday, Nixon speculates, "I just wonder if the son-of-a-bitch had a recorder on him. I didn't notice any but I wasn't looking."

Haldeman guesses in that conversation again that Dean carried no secret recorder, if only because the former White House counsel had no reason to believe that Nixon would say, as he did, that money for the original seven Watergate defendants could easily be raised.

"He had no thought that you were going to say anything like this," said Haldeman, who had just listened to the March 21 tape and was giving Nixon an account of the meeting.

Auto layoffs to top 145,000

DETROIT (AP) — At least 145,000 blue collar auto workers and thousands more white collar employes will be out of work part or all of next month because of mounting production cutbacks in the faltering automobile industry.

General Motors said Thursday it will shut nine car assembly plants for one or two weeks in December and lay off 30,000 workers because of declining sales.

Meanwhile, Ford Motor Co. said it is furloughing 3,000 white collar workers Dec. 1. Chrysler Corp. revealed plans to lay off white collar workers soon, but would not confirm reports that the number would be as high as 15,000.

In Windsor, Ont., Chrysler of Canada said 1,700 workers will be laid off starting today from Canadian plants which supply parts for the firm's U.S. operations.

The latest GM layoffs will mean more than 20 per cent of the industry's hourly work force of about 700,000 will be jobless next month, about 80,000 of them indefinitely. An additional 20,000 workers have been scheduled for temporary layoffs this month only.

GM, which currently has nearly 40,000 hourly workers on indefinite layoff, said workers temporarily furloughed next month will receive full holiday pay for the normal Christmas-to-New Years shutdown.

In other developments Thursday:

—Ford announced it has cut $66 off the base price of its subcompact two-door Pinto, which suffered a 37 per cent sales decline in early November.

Ford said the Pinto will now carry a base price of $2,769, making it the lowest priced American-made car. Ford also said it is using less expensive tires as standard equipment, reducing prices another $84.

—Toyota Motor Sales U.S.A. announced in Torrance, Calif., that its 1975 Corona and Celica models will be priced between $440 and $615 higher than comparable 1974 models.

Toyota said the increases, which range from 12.5 to 16.6 per cent, are the result of inflated production costs and the addition of new or improved standard equipment.

The Chrysler and GM production cutbacks come in the face of a 30 per cent drop in new model sales.

GM said its plants in North Tarrytown, N.Y.; Van Nuys and Southgate, Calif., will be closed for two weeks starting Dec. 2. Plants at Fairfax, Kan., and Willow Run, Mich., will be shut for the weeks of Dec. 2 and Dec. 16.

One-week shutdowns beginning Dec. 16 are scheduled for plants at Lordstown, Ohio; Janesville, Wis.; St. Louis, Mo., and Wilmington, Del.

The Lordstown, Willow Run, Van Nuys and Tarrytown plants are shut this week, and Lordstown and Willow Run will remain shut next week, as well.

The fall storm that battered Ohio Wednesday and Thursday finally moved off the New England coast Thursday night, allowing winds to drop to more normal levels.

A weak high pressure ridge dominated the weather today, with sunshine expected to spread from the west parts of the state to the east as clouds dissipate.

But a new fall storm was forecast to develop in the lee of the Rockies tonight and affect Ohio late Saturday or Sunday. Temperatures will warm through Saturday, with highs reaching the 50s and low 60s.

Chance of showers Sunday. Mostly cloudy Monday and Tuesday. Daytime high temperatures in the 40s and low 50s. Nighttime low temperatures in the 30s.

Stock list posts gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market snapped out of a long downtrend today with a broad technical advance.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 7.20 to 615.77, and gainers held a 7-to-2 edge on losers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the upswing drew some of its inspiration from the market's generally steady response Thursday to the news of the Justice Department's antitrust suit against American Telephone & Telegraph. An added boost was provided by another cut in the prime lending rate, from 10¼ to 10 per cent, by New York's First National City Bank.

G.D. Searle was the most-active issue on the Big Board, down ½ at 15½. A 190,000-share block moved at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index declined .42 to 63.67.

AT&T shares were active, rebounding ½ to 43⅛ from Thursday's 3-point loss.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks rose .44 to 36.64.

Irish blamed for bombing fatal to 19 in Britain

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Home Secretary Roy Jenkins today pledged an allout campaign against Irish terrorists after bombs killed 19 persons and fanned anti-Irish feeling in this second largest English city.

The bomb explosions in two crowded bars Thursday night also injured 184.

In London Jenkins told the House of Commons that emergency laws may soon be introduced to combat terrorism in Britain, but he gave no details. He said he will make a further statement to Parliament Monday.

"There is no question of us submitting to a victory for terrorism and we are determined to demonstrate the will to win," declared Jenkins, who represents a Birmingham district in Parliament.

Countering fears that the Birmingham bombings could trigger a wave of vengeance attacks against Britain's Irish communities, Jenkins appealed to Britons to keep their tempers.

If they take the law into their own hands, he warned, "the damage will be still greater and the victory for extremists and terrorists would be greater."

The public blamed the Irish Republican Army, whose bombs have killed at least 30 other persons in England in the past two years. The death toll was the heaviest in any bombing in England or Northern Ireland since the war between Roman Catholic and Protestant extremists began in Ulster five years ago.

Gangs of youths took to the streets of Birmingham, shouting "Irish bastards" and "We hate the Irish!" A gasoline bomb was thrown through the window of a Catholic priest's house.

Mayor James Eames said the terrorist attack would undoubtedly build up hate and prejudice against Birmingham's sizeable Irish population.

"The Irish war has finally come to England," said John Stokes, a Conservative member of the House of Commons. He called for the death penalty "for the perpetrators of these appalling crimes."

There was speculation that the bombings were in response to the government's refusal to allow funeral services in Birmingham for James McDaid, a 28-year-old IRA officer killed in Coventry last week when a bomb he was setting exploded prematurely. His body was brought to Birmingham Thursday and flown to Dublin.

Rocky clears Senate hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee voted unanimously today to recommend the approval of Nelson A. Rockefeller to be vice president.

The 9 to 0 vote sends the nomination to the Senate floor. The full senate is expected to vote after Congress returns from its brief Thanksgiving recess.

The Rules Committee decision came after eight weeks of investigation and hearings into the finances and public and private record of the former New York governor.

The decision became unanimous when Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., joined the majority to vote for Rockefeller.

Allen had said earlier he had not made up his mind how he would vote because he disapproved of Rockefeller's "big government, tax and spend philosophy."

Allen said that from Rockefeller's responses at the hearings he believes Rockefeller has moved philosophically toward the right in recent years.

"While I disagree with much of Gov. Rockefeller's philosophy, I realize that it would be impractical for me to expect a nominee with whose views I wholly agree," Allen said. "Therefore, acting in what I consider to be the national interest, I have voted for Gov. Rockefeller's confirmation as vice president."

Rockefeller's nomination also appears certain to win a solid recommendation from the House Judiciary Committee, despite some concern about his vast wealth.

Base closings

already has brought worried delegations to Washington. There always is opposition to base reductions, but concern appears sharper this time because of the nation's economic troubles.

To alleviate the problem, the Pentagon pledged that "every effort will be made to assist displaced civilian employes in obtaining other acceptable employment" in the federal government or private industry. Many career employes will be eligible for up to a year of severance pay.

In any event, many of the installations will not start to feel the effects until next summer and some of the actions will not be completed until mid-1977.

Ford tours South Korea; 2 million line Seoul streets

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Ford saw the biggest crowd of his life in South Korea's capital today, then traveled close to the frontier with Communist North Korea to visit enthusiastic American troops.

The Korean national police estimated about 2 million flagwaving, confetti-throwing Koreans turned out for the American President's arrival. American newsmen estimated the crowd at a million or more, roughly equivalent to the turnout for President Johnson in 1966.

President Chung Hee Park mobilized a heavy security guard to prevent opponents of his dictatorship making trouble during Ford's visit. But twice during the 10-mile drive from the airport into Seoul, Ford emerged from Park's armored limousine with his host in tow and mingled with the crowd.

Asked at one stop if he had ever seen anything like the Korean welcome in Grand Rapids, Mich., his home town, Ford jokingly replied: "Yes, but on a smaller scale."

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger responded for the first time to critics of the visit who argue that Ford's presence lends moral support to Park's dictatorial government.

Kissinger told newsmen aboard Air Force One that Ford in his meeting with Park undoubtedly would "call attention to the impact of Korea's domestic politics" on American opinion. He added, however, that the U.S. government has only a "very limited capacity" to effect political changes in South Korea.

White House press secretary Ron Nessen said Ford had no intention of meeting with any leaders of the anti-Park movement.

After his tumultuous welcome, Ford flew to Camp Casey, an American base manned by some of the 38,000 U.S. troops in Korea. He ate fried chicken with the enlisted men and watched part of a rough game of football and an exhibition of tae kwondo, a Korean form of karate.

Ford spent less than two hours at Camp Casey, then donned a red and black Korean jacket presented to him by an enlisted man and stood up in an open jeep as he rode to his helicopter.

His schedule also included a reception and state dinner.

No major announcements were expected from Ford's visit. It was considered to be mainly a reaffirmation of the U.S. defense commitment to South Korea.

The overnight stop in Seoul followed a four-day visit to Japan, the first by a U.S. president. Ford and Kissinger leave South Korea Saturday morning and after a refueling stop in Japan go on to Vladivostok, the Soviet Union's chief Far Eastern port, for a summit conference with Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev.

GAO probes FBI activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is sending its own investigators into the FBI's secret files for the first time in history to appraise the effectiveness and legality of FBI operations.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley has agreed to the probe by the General Accounting Office, officials of both agencies said Thursday.

The audit was requested by the House Judiciary Committee and will focus first on the most controversial of all FBI activities, domestic spying.

The investigation will begin after the GAO concludes negotiations over the ground rules with the FBI, according to Richard Fogel, the GAO audit manager for the probe.

"Things are progressing satisfactorily" and those ground rules should be settled early next week, Fogel said in an interview. Late 1975 is the target for delivering the final report to Congress.

Fogel and FBI spokesman George Quinn said the negotiations primarily concern the procedure for allowing GAO auditors access to confidential information in domestic intelligence files.

The FBI already has agreed to make the information available in some manner designed to insure confidentiality, Quinn and Fogel said.

That step is a remarkable departure from the FBI's traditional insistence on secrecy, particularly during the 48 years it was ruled by the late J. Edgar Hoover.

"It is a change. One obvious reason is because Mr. Hoover is not there," Fogel said.

Terrorists skyjack British jet

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Three Arab guerrillas holding 47 persons on a hijacked British jetliner in Tunis threatened to execute one passenger every two hours today unless 13 comrades jailed in Rome and Khartoum are freed, two newsmen allowed aboard reported.

But a Palestinian splinter group in Beirut identifying itself as the hijackers' command said its men sought the release of two comrades jailed in Holland, and unless it got them every Dutch, Belgian and Luxembourg hostage aboard the plane would be killed.

There was no immediate explanation for the difference between the demands.

The hijacking was attacked by the main Palestinian group, the Palestine Liberation Organization, which called it "a desperate attempt to defame the struggle of the Palestinian people and their armed revolution."

In Rome, officials said there were no Palestinians held in Italian jails for terrorist attacks.

Three Palestinians seized the plane in the Persian Gulf sheikdom of Dubai late Thursday, then forced it to fly to Tripoli, Libya where it refueled. From Tripoli they diverted the flight to Tunis.

New officers of the Fayette County Area Bankers Association were announced during the brief business meeting.

The officers are Glenn Hemsworth, of the First National Bank in Washington C.H., president; Richard Whiteside, of the Huntington Bank of Washington C.H., vice president; Joe Bryan, of the First National Bank in New Holland, treasurer; and James Wilson, of the Fayette County Bank, secretary. Wilson is immediate past president of the association.

Days Inn slates opening

The official opening ceremony of the Days Inn motel and Tasty World restaurant, located at the intersection of I-71 and U.S. 35, will be held Saturday.

The motel, the largest Days Inn in Ohio, offers 184 rooms, a conference room, a swimming pool, a children's playground and a family restaurant with a seating capacity for 114 persons.

SCHEDULED to attend the official opening ceremony Saturday are officials from Jeffersonville and Washington C.H. as well as representatives from Days Inn of America, Inc., Atlanta, Ga.

Room rates are $8.88 for a single, $11.88 for a double in addition to low family package rates.

James D. Smith, president of Real Estate Investors Land Corp., of Dayton, the general partner for the new motel-restaurant complex, said approximately 60 persons will be employed when the facility begins full operations.

Miss Gayle Creske, president of Reilco Management Corp., a subsidiary of Real Estate Investors Corp., will operate the motel and restaurant.

About 150 persons attend open house

Approximately 150 persons attended the open house at Washington Senior High School Thursday night. After a program in the high school gymnasium, the parents were given an opportunity to tour the facilities.

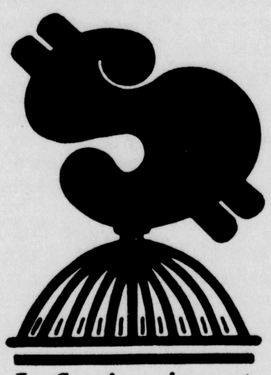

David Mustine, WSHS student council president, opened the program with a short address, and then the Madrigal Choir sang three selections.

Principal Fred Jones discussed some of the changes mandated this year by including the freshman class in the high school curriculum. Jones then introduced the WSHS faculty members.

Members of the Junior Naval ROTC then took small groups on tours of the facilities. Following the tours, everyone gathered in the school cafeteria for refreshments and the drawing of door prizes.

An American flag from Foy Johnson's paint store; Jerry Shaw, a certificate for an oil change from the Dayton Avenue Sohio station; John Phillips, sailing lessons from the Lakewood Sportsman Center; Donald Dunn, two dinners at McDonald's. The name of the winner of a centerpiece from Welsh's Greenhouse could not be located.

Dog larceny investigated

A larceny and an attempted breaking and entering incident were reported today by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

A liver and white Springer Spaniel valued at $75, was stolen from the Robert Mallow residence in Jeffersonville Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported today.

The dog is estimated at being four to six months of age.

A 24 inch by 36 inch window was broken from an overhead garage door at the Sunoco service station at the intersection of I-71 and Ohio 38, sometime between 11:30 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. Thursday.

Firemen ponder possible arson

Washington C.H. firemen are presently investigating what they believe to be an incident involving arson.

They reported at 8:05 p.m. Thursday, a garage belonging to Trent Sickle of 217 N. Fayette St., was set on fire. The garage was located behind the Sickle residence and investigation is continuing.

Firemen responded to a second fire Thursday when a furnace motor overheated and broke into flames. They extinguished the fire at the Dewey Sheidler residence at 510 E. Market St., with 15 pounds of carbon dioxide and estimated damage to the motor at $50.

Opinion And Comment

Culling draft evader cases

The partial amnesty program announced by President Ford some weeks ago has thus far been pretty much of a dud, particularly insofar as draft evaders are concerned. Positive response to the proposal that they do alternative service to earn their way back into free society has been positively underwhelming.

When this widespread negative reaction became apparent it was predicted by some that the White House, distressed by the turn of events, would find ways to further temper the program's impact. This initiative just taken by Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe is fulfilling this prophecy.

Saxbe has ordered the nation's 94 United States attorneys to review pending draft evasion cases and dismiss those when prosecution is not justified. It is a fair guess that this will be the U.S. attorneys' finding in a substantial number of the 6,200 such cases. Many involved voluntary exile undertaken on grounds of conscience as the only alternative to serving in a war the evaders deemed fruitless and immoral.

Saxbe has sought to place his directive in the best possible light, saying that "these instructions are in furtherance of the spirit of President Ford's clemency program." He added that "before announcing the program the President stated that he would throw his weight on the side of leniency in treating the draft evader and deserter problem."

Without questioning this, it can be noted that the lethargic response to the program on the part of exiled young men has become a source of some embarrassment to the White House. Dismissal of defective cases fits in with the theme of leniency but will also help to relive that embarrassment.

THESE DAYS . . . . By John Chamberlain

Congress faces 2-headed monster

The next Congress is going to be the double-talk Congress. It could very well double-talk itself into a disaster for 1976 simply because our laws direct it to do quite incompatible things.

One law, known as the Full Employment Act of 1946, directs the Congress to keep unemployment from going beyond a normal amount of what the economists call "frictional unemployment," meaning the three or four per cent of the working population that happens to be between jobs.

But still another law, the one that created the Federal Reserve System, empowers Arthur Burns, the Fed's chairman, to use his own judgment when it comes to controlling the country's money supply. Keeping inflation under control by tight credit policies would necessarily preclude expensive Congressional "make-work" legislation. So the scene is set for conflict if and when strict credit policies threaten to push unemployment above the frictional minimum.

How will the newcomers to Congress divide on what will very possibly be the big issue in the next two years, the issue of full employment versus the integrity of the dollar? House of Representatives Speaker Carl Albert has said, in effect, that he cannot guess. Asked if the influx of 75 new House Democrats, who average 15 years younger than the men they have displaced, will push Congress "leftward" (meaning in a big-spending direction to fight recession), Albert said: "It is difficult to tell. Some take one direction and some another."

The main difficulty is that many of the newcomers take two directions at once. For example, Toby Moffett, the Democrat who has succeeded to the Congressional seat vacated by Connecticut's new woman governor, Ella Grasso, is all in favor of keeping spending within noninflationary bounds. But he is also for easing our credit policies in order to provide mortgage money for the lower middle class and to keep people at work. If prices continue to rise because of food shortages and political decisions on the part of Arab sheiks and the Shah of Iran, Toby Moffett could easily become a walking contradiction.

He would not be the only one. Most of the Congressional newcomers, responding to a National Observer poll, have said they are for legislation to establish national health insurance. The likely scope of such insurance will not be known until Congress starts debating the issue next year. But one thing is certain: Any plan that is acceptable to a heavily Democratic congress will cost a few billion dollars.

So how do you lower the Federal budget if the government is to underwrite the nation's health? It could be done, so many of the Congressional newcomers have indicated, by slicing the defense budget, or by cutting back on foreign aid. But here again, the newcomers must face up to some incompatibilities of logic. If the U.S. is to skimp on its naval appropriations, where does that leave the Arab oil sheik who will quibble about keeping the price of Persian Gulf crude at inflationary levels?

If the Russians, not the Americans, control the sea lanes leading through the Indian Ocean, the Red Sea and the Mediterranean to the oil ports of Western Europe and the United States, our energy policies, for the rest of the 1970s, will be utterly at the mercy of foreigners. The connection between a strong military and naval deterrent and the cost of energy may seem tenuous to the 75 Democratic newcomers to the House. But it is there.

The Full Employment Act of 1946 has always been considered a sacred cow. Would any newcomer to Congress dare propose that it should be amended to make the government responsible for maintaining employment within the limits imposed by the need to keep the dollar honest? Maybe, if and when efforts to cure unemployment through inflationary spending produce nothing more than a continued run of stagflation, somebody will summon up the nerve to say that the long-run health of the economy depends on reviving investment incentives, not in trying to keep people employed by make-work government projects. But nobody campaigned on such a proposition.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Don't fret if it becomes necessary to sacrifice some leisure time to job matters. Results will more than make up for your disappointment.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Watch your budget! Reject any ideas for travel or entertainment which you can ill afford. Tendency is to be reckless now.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Don't let your curiosity get the better of you — especially in a romantic situation. Too many questions will only yield evasive answers.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

A day of mixed influences. Be careful in your approaches. Others may read more into your words and actions than you intend.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A long-pending domestic problem can be solved now, so devote the early part of the day to this task. Then you can feel freer to go on to more stimulating interests.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Some tension indicated. Avoid highly strung or neurotic persons, and keep out of situations which could needlessly involve you in others' problems.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Mixed influences. You may encounter some frustrating situations during the a.m., but the tide will turn in your favor later in the day.

YOU BORN TODAY as a Sagittarian, are governed by Jupiter, the planet of opportunity — and you rarely miss one as you wend your way through what should surely be a most successful and interesting life. You are extremely versatile and could have a wide choice of careers from which to choose but, more than others of your Sign, your choice will depend largely on your early education and environment. Others may change careers in midstream or drift into a successful field through circumstance — but not you. Your destiny will follow the lines of your intellectual development. Fields in which you could excel, depending on these factors: business management, science, the law, statesmanship, journalism, music, the stage, literature.

Rhodes ponders new assistants

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The guessing game is on. Who will be the men and women to join the administration of former Gov. James A. Rhodes?

Maybe Rhodes doesn't know the answers himself, but state capital sources have begun coming up with names—like John McElroy.

McElroy, a Columbus attorney, was a legal advisor to Rhodes in his last term as governor. Most legal work that went through the governor's office then had to have his approval.

McElroy and Rhodes, reports have it, have talked about a possible position, but Rhodes, in this as in other matters pertaining to the governor's office, is moving slowly.

He wants to get official certification of election from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown before taking any formal action toward resuming the reins.

Rumors have it that Collier doesn't want the state finance job permanently, but is willing to serve Rhodes on an interim basis during the hectic months of change.

Presumably he would be the temporary replacement for John B. Olsen, director of the Office of Budget and Management under Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Joe Shump, director of the Department of Industrial Relations, reportedly is considering a return to a job he held 17 years ago—metal finisher at Frigidaire Division of General Motors Corp. in Dayton.

Shump, former president of Local 801, International Union of Electrical Workers, last worked as a metal finisher in 1957. He has been on union and political leave since then.

"There is no question my job at Frigidaire is like an ace in the hole," said Shump.

Shump said he also is considering "whether to throw my hat in the ring" for the job of Montgomery County treasurer. Robert L. Roderer, present treasurer, was elected Montgomery County auditor and will take his new post next March.

The Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee will name Roderer's successor.

Disappointed Democrats are continuing their analysis of Gov. John J. Gilligan's re-election defeat and some don't agree that the defeat was a personal repudiation of the governor as Gilligan himself called it.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I would like to nominate my ex-husband for "Heel of the Year." I divorced him 15 years ago, so he could marry another woman. At the time we had a five-year-old son and a three-year-old daughter.

After the first year he forgot all about child support. I had a good job, so I never hounded him.

Last year, our son enlisted in the Air Force. Five months later he was killed in a training accident.

Abby, that boy saw his father maybe a dozen times in the last 15 years. His father never remembered his son on his birthday or Christmas either.

Guess who showed up at our son's funeral? His father! Now for the unbelievable part: my ex-husband told me at the funeral that he was "entitled" to half our son's G.I. insurance. (The insurance was made out to me.) I told him where to go, and he said he plans to sue me. And he probably will.

Have you ever heard anything to equal that?

SHOCKED IN CHICAGO

DEAR SHOCKED: No. But if any of my readers have, they'll probably let me know. Does anyone care to nominate a candidate for "Heel of the Year?"

DEAR ABBY: My brother and his wife are secretly married. My husband and I stood up for them. Brother is 31, and Ellen (made up name) is 27.

Brother and Ellen do not live together. She lives with her parents and he has his own apartment.

Ellen has not yet told her parents that she is married, and she has given my brother orders not to give away the secret. I think she's ashamed of him, which really upsets me because he is a super guy.

They finally told my parents. Abby, they've been married a year. Last week my parents had a little anniversary celebration party for them. Her folks weren't invited because they still haven't been told about the marriage. It was all so one-sided and weird.

I cannot understand why Ellen won't tell her folks. Neither she nor brother has been married before, there is no racial or religious conflict and my brother doesn't have two heads. In fact he is very handsome. What do you make of this?

"B" IN SAN MATEO

DEAR "B": I don't know Ellen's reason for keeping her marriage a secret, but whatever it is, it's not your problem. It's hers and your brother's.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because although I am on good terms with my doctor and have known him for years I am ashamed to ask him this question.

Ten years ago my husband died. Last year I fell in love again, and the gentlemen is five years younger than I am. I am 83.

For the last 30 years I have had no menstruation, having had my menopause completed at age 53. Can you please tell me if there is any possibility of me becoming pregnant now? I am in good health and do not look anywhere near my age. (I'm told I look about 60.) Do not use my name or location please.

wants to know

DEAR WANTS: No danger.

DEAR ABBY: What can you do for a guy whose new wife suddenly gets hung up on country and western music to the point where she won't listen to any other kind? She knows I hate it. Every radio in the house is tuned to those hillbilly singers. I've been going down to the corner tavern to hear some decent music on the jukebox.

LASSOED

DEAR LASSOED: Get yourself a pair of pick-toed boots, jeans, a yoked shirt, a roll-brim hat, and do-si-do and away you go!

Today In History

Today is Friday, Nov. 29, the 333rd day of 1974. There are 32 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the monarchy was abolished in Yugoslavia.

On this date:

In 1760, the French surrendered Detroit to the British at the end of the French and Indian War.

In 1825, the first Italian opera presented in the United States, Rossini's "Barber of Seville," was performed in New York.

In 1899, the United States, Switzerland and France recognized the Republic of Brazil.

In 1922, archaeologists announced they had found fabulous treasure in the tomb of King Tutankhamen in Egypt.

In 1929, U.S. Navy Lt. Commander Richard Byrd radioed that he had made the first flight over the South Pole.

Five years ago: Communist forces in South Vietnam eased up a four-week offensive in which nearly 400 South Vietnamese and 70 Americans were killed.

CINCINNATI PIPE BAND

Cincinnati pipers return to church

The swirl of kilts and skirl of bagpipes are returning to Washington C. H. Sunday with the Cincinnati Pipe Band performing at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

The pipers and drummers will be playing at 10 a.m. in the church for the annual celebration of Saint Andrew's Day.

The band will appear in complete authentic uniforms made in Scotland and copied from the Seaforth Highland Regiment. The kilts are made from MacKenzie Tartan and the pipers will be wearing dark green doublets with black waist and shoulder belts. The bags are normally elk hide and are usually covered by a Tartan bag cover.

The morning service has been modified somewhat from last year to make an even better celebration. One of the changes is that Joseph Foster, one of the Pipers, will sing a solo of the traditional lament, "Flowers of the Forest," accompanied by a single drone.

Following the service, the Pipers will play additional tunes and present a program of dances in the parish hall. Everyone is cordially invited to attend, said the Rev. Leroy Davis, pastor of the church.

Presbyterians to hold Thanksgiving dedication

The congregation of the First Presbyterian Church, 214 N. Hinde St., will take part in a Thanksgiving and Sharing Service Sunday.

As part of the service, they will bring canned goods to be dedicated to the church's food cupboard, which is used by the church deacons in supplying emergency needs.

During the service, the newly-elected trustees of the church will be installed: Wayne Hill, Jack Brennan and Mrs. Homer Bireley to three-year terms.

In future services, the deacons, church elders and newly-elected members of the Youth Council will be installed. Deacons are Russell Klontz, Mrs. William Rogers and Mrs. Herb Stolsenberg. Elders are Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Ed Thompson, Larry Bishop, William Still and David Looker. New Youth Council members are Jill Dorn and Kindra Knedler.

All members were elected by the congregation during the worship hour Nov. 3. In addition to the election, a budget of $55,700 for 1975 was adopted for the work of the congregation and mission programs. The congregation presently includes 734 members.

Maple Grove Women meet

Maple Grove United Methodist Women met in the home of Mrs. Marion Dawson. Devotions were presented by Mrs. Harold Craven, who read from Psalms and 'News Flash.' Mrs. Wilbur Chaplin gave a prayer for missionaries with birthdays in November.

Mrs. Roy Gilmerr presented a Thanksgiving program and read a man's interview with Dr. Norman Vincent Peale and closed with the poem, "One Nation Under God."

An open Bible, white candle, globe of the world, platter of fruit, all represented the preparation for the Passover Feast.

Members answered roll call by giving the date of their wedding and name of the minister who married them. Mrs. Ella Voss Wiseman donated a comforter to the Society, which will be knotted at an all-day meeting.

The December 18 meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. H. Craven when members will bring candy and cookies for the cookie exchange and also for cheer plates for the community. There will also be a $1.00 gift exchange. Mrs. Carey Daugherty and Mrs. Clyde Carman will serve on the committee.

A thank you was read from the VA Hospital, Chillicothe, for money for patient coupon books and also from Fayette County clothing center for a comforter.

Mrs. John Rowland read 'An Unfinished Parable' and the meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Earl Russell.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Wilbur Chaplin, Mrs. John Rowland, Mrs. Locie Eckle, Mrs. Carey Daugherty, Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly, Mrs. Ottie Huff, Mrs. Earl J. Russell, Mrs. Clyde Carman, Mrs. Harold Craven, Mrs. Roy Gilmerr by Mrs. Dawson.

'Being Thankful' Circle theme

The Virginia Circle of the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church met in the church with Mrs. Fred Dement and Mrs. Harry Allen cohostesses.

Mrs. David Groves, circle leader, opened the meeting by reading the poem, "Two Golden Days," and roll call was answered with "What I am thankful for." Cards were signed for shutins.

Mrs. Vida Strietenberger was in charge of the devotions and program. She read from Corinthians, "One Nation Under God," and offered prayer. "Try Being Thankful for You," was the program topic, and she gave an interesting talk concerning the theme.

A dessert course was served to 10 members.

Jenny Adams Circle makes donations

The Jenny Adams Circle of First Baptist Church met in the church parlor with Mrs. Marshall Boggs and the Misses Bertha and Metta Graves as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Robert West opened the meeting and read "Thanksgiving." She named the everyday items for which one should be thankful, such as water, etc. Members named thoughts for Thanksgiving for roll call, and letters were read from Mrs. Edith Robinson, missionary to Haiti, West Indies. A donation was sent to the scholarship student, Nicole Tanes in Haiti, and $10.00 given to Church Women United to purchase toys for Christmas and clothing.

Mrs. West also announced the luncheon at the church for Dec. 4 for the New Crusade. Cheer cards were signed for shut-ins and offerings accepted. There will be work meetings held in January and February when members will roll bandages for the White Cross project and also knot a comforter.

Mrs. Frank Reno presented a book review of "The Prosecutor" by Seirgei Kourdakov, and Mrs. John Baker was in charge of the closing.

Mrs. Albert Caplinger will be hostess for the Christmas party to be held at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 12 in her home, with a gift exchange.

Thirteen members of the Posy Garden Club met for the November meeting in the home of Mrs. Forest Fry. Mrs. Carl Benner described how important a proper background is in photographing arrangements and flowers in the garden. She showed snapshots with the right background and some without for comparison. She also suggested some members enter the OAGS slide contest.

Mrs. Lyle Hanawalt showed Ohio Association of Garden Club slides, "Christmas Decorations, Traditional and Modern" and "Christmas Decorations You Can Make" with Mrs. Albert Bihl as narrator. The club has purchased a new OAGC Handbook for Mrs. Jesse Schlichter, president.

Mrs. Schlichter reported nine members had attended Region 16 Fall meeting in Mount Sterling and four members enjoyed the all-day demonstration of "Christmas at Home" with Mrs. Mabel Shoup at the Fish and Game Lodge recently. She distributed the interesting and attractive program books for the coming year.

Mrs. Bihl read a note of appreciation from the Madison Mills elementary school for the subscription to 'Ranger Rick' magazine. Seven members volunteered to assist the class at the Fayette Progressive School. They will make pine cone turkeys for Thanksgiving.

A new book, "Forgotten Art of Flower Cookery" by Leona Woodring Smith was added to the library.

Mrs. Arthur Schlichter reported a committee for planning a flower show for the spring Region 16 meeting, April 17, in Greene County, met in her home recently with Mrs. Ralph White, Regional director, in charge. The tenative title for the show will be "Look to Your Beginnings" with a class named for each of the six counties in the region.

Mrs. Frank Barrett correctly pronounced and described helleborus, the botanical name for Christmas rose, to add to the members vocabulary.

Mrs. Lawrence Woods made a beautiful arrangement of fruit and flowers in a basket, suitable for a Thanksgiving table. The civic committee will make swags for the Madison Mills Methodist Church doors and decorate a tree at Carnegie Library with hand-crafted ornaments.

Mrs. Fry served a dessert salad to Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. Benner, Mrs. Bihl, Mrs. Bernard Edwards, Mrs. Lester Haines, Mrs. Hanawalt, Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. Arthur Schlichter, Mrs. Jesse Schlichter, Mrs. Bess Seaman, Mrs. Ethel Wilson and Mrs. Woods. The annual Christmas luncheon will be Dec. 18, at the Wardell Party Home with a handcrafted gift exchange.

Zeta CCL party planned

Zeta C.C.L. members met in the home of Mrs. Robert Highfield for the regular monthly meeting. Devotions entitled "Angel of Mine" were given by Mrs. Phil Grover. The business meeting was called to order by Mrs. Roger Bonham, during which a discussion of the Spring Conference was held. Mrs. Marion Frantz gave the recording secretary's report and the treasurer's report and ways and means committee report was given by Mrs. Larry Bishop. Mrs. Gene Gustin reported on the philanthropic project for the year and Mrs. Roger Boswell read correspondence including a letter of resignation from Mrs. Gary Thompson.

Attending the meeting as prospective members were Mrs. Alford Carr and Mrs. Whitlow Wyatt.

Hostesses providing refreshments were Mrs. Paul Hughes and Mrs. Larry Bishop with Mrs. Highfield assisting.

A progressive dinner and gift exchange will be held December 10 at the homes of Mrs. Russell Klontz, Mrs. John Marcum and Mrs. Roger Osborne.

Julian Bond may enter 1976 race

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Georgia state legislator Julian Bond says he is seriously considering seeking the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976.

The 34-year-old Bond, who will take a seat in the Georgia Senate in January, told newsmen Thursday at the University of Dayton:

"Before I make an announcement I want to check both the financial aspects of a presidential campaign and how much support I can raise.

"So, between now and next spring, I want to find the answers to those questions. If the answers are positive, then I guess I'll run."

Bond said he is not interested in running for the U.S. Senate or Congress.

"If I can't have the presidency, there's nothing else for me. It's the White House or nothing," Bond said. Bond has served eight years in the Georgia house and won election to the state senate this year. Bond was nominated for vice president in 1968 but withdrew because of his age.

Bond said President Ford had made some position changes for the administration other than those held by former President Richard M. Nixon. He cited as examples, a meeting with the Congressional black caucas soon after becoming president.

"Ford spent so much time in the House, that he understands the need for meetings," Bond said, evaluating Ford's effectiveness.

"There could be a substantial change if he would act on some of the proposals offered him.

"I hope this next 100 days in office will be more effective," Bond said.

Organ Club

The new Allen electronic organ at First Baptist Church will be played by Mrs. Paul Brunner for members of the Washington Organ Club, when they meet at the church at 7:30 p.m. Friday (tonight). Mrs. Ralph Yerian will play organ-piano pieces on the piano also.

The meeting is for anyone interested in playing church music or owns organs in the community.

Comrades cancel gift exchange

Comrades of the Second Mile will not have a gift exchange at the December meeting, planned in the home of Mrs. Gilbert Biddle at 6:30 p.m. A carry in dinner will, however, be a feature.

Mrs. Garringer Circle hostess

The Mary Ruth Circle of the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. Russell Garringer on Wednesday for the November meeting.

Due to the absence of the leader, Mrs. Margaret Morrow opened the program by reading a Thanksgiving Poem. Ten members answered roll call.

Regular business was conducted and reports given. Each Circle received $42.00 from the rummage and bake sale. Each member was asked to bring three gift items to sell at the smorgasbord and Bazaar on December 4th. A thank-you note was read from Mrs. Dennewitz and wooden crosses distributed to the members, a gift from Mrs. Dennewitz.

The program was presented by Mrs. Morrow. She read Psalm 100, an article by O'Henry on Thanksgiving, also a poem "It Can't Be True" and closed with "A Prayer At Harvest.

HAPPY BLUE-BELLES
BLUEBIRDS

Roll Call was given by Julie Boswell and dues were collected by Melissa Climer. Each girl named something that she was thankful for as she paid her dues.

Mrs. Boswell and Mrs. Wyatt helped the group make Christmas gifts for a class of children at the Progressive School.

The next meeting will be December 2 with Stephanie Hatmacher responsible for refreshments.

Those present were Julie Boswell, Melissa Climer, Angela Everhart, Debbie Forsha, Stephanie Hatmacher, Loretta Self, Jody Shepler, Jackie Sue Smith, Amy Wyatt, Mrs. Boswell, Mrs. Wyatt, Amy Boswell and Wesley Wyatt.

GOOD HOPE — The Good Hope Lions Club netted approximately $700 profit from the sausage and pancake supper held Nov. 9, it was reported Thursday at the regular meeting in Wayne Township Hall.

According to Lion Joe Barton, the proceeds will go into the club's activities fund.

After the traditional turkey dinner, served by the women of the Good Hope United Methodist Church, the members adjourned to tour the local Mac Tool, Inc., plant.

James Waddle, of the Mac Tool sales department, gave a brief introduction and history of the company before guiding a tour of the facility and explaining the toolmaking operations.

Mac Tool encompasses over 385,000 square feet of manufacturing floor space in Sabina and Washington C.H., said Waddle. He added that the projected growth of the plant is expected to double within the next 10 years.

In other business conducted, Meade Noble announced that tickets for the annual New Year's Eve event are now available to members and their guests. The yearly fruit cake sale is now in progress with nearly all cakes sold. Those wishing to purchase a cake may contact any club member, according to the president Howard Barney.

The December meeting will be featured as the club's annual ladies night and will be held in the Mahan Building. John Ely will be program chairman for the event.

Bobbie Cowman reported on the ticket sales for the 50-50 Dance to be held Nov. 30 in the Mahan Building. Music will be provided by the George Brothers and tickets are $6 per couple.

U.S., Israel face United Nations loss

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and Israel faced another defeat at the United Nations today on a vote endorsing the Palestinians' claim to nationhood at the expense of Israel.

A resolution on Palestinian rights introduced Thursday night by 38 Arab and Third World countries was assured of approval in the vote late today in the General Assembly.

The resolution affirms the Palestinians' rights to self-determination, independence and sovereignty. It also affirms their right "to return to their homes and property from which they have been displaced and uprooted" by the formation of Israel.

In addition, it recognizes the Palestine Liberation Organization as the "representative of the people of Palestine" and declares the Palestinians "a principal party in the establishment of a just and durable peace in the Middle East."

This was a direct hit at Israel's refusal to negotiate with the PLO.

A second resolution introduced by 20 Arab and six other countries would grant the PLO permanent observer status at the General Assembly and at U.N.-sponsored international conferences.

U.S. Ambassador John Scali spoke in the Palestine debate Thursday and urged that Palestinian "legitimate interests" be achieved in the give and take of the negotiating process.

Traffic Court

A local man forfeited $210 Thursday in Municipal Court on traffic charges, according to Judge Reed M. Winegardner.

Gary R. Tidd, 27, Rt. 6, forfeited $60 bond on a charge of reckless operation and $150 bond on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident in reference to the alleged striking of a construction blockade on Columbus Avenue.

Danny P. White, 18, of 518 Carolyn Road, pleaded not guilty and was fined $20 on a charge of a defective exhaust system.

Isaac Stewart, 70, of 1343 Grace St., forfeited $25 on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Judge fines three women

Municipal Court Judge Reed M. Winegardner fined three women on three separate charges of passing bad checks in on-traffic cases heard Thursday.

Bernice Hatton, 34, of 5328 US 35 NW, pleaded guilty to a charge of passing a bad check at Jeff Royal Blue and was fined $100 with the amount of the check to be paid before her release.

Annna E. Fugate, South Solon, was adjudged to make restitution through the court of $15.83 check and several other defaultive checks all totalling $98.43 to Jeff Royal Blue within two weeks. She was also fined $100 with $50 suspended for six months on the condition she make restitution to the grocer after she pleaded guilty to the charge.

Sandra Saxton, 29, Zanesville, was also fined $100 with $50 suspended for six months on the condition she make payment of a $30 insufficient check to Buckeye Mart when she pleaded guilty to the bad check charge.

Plain Dealer talks continue

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Representatives of the Plain Dealer and the striking Cleveland Newspaper Guild continued negotiations into the early hours this morning as they tried to work out an agreement to end the 22-day-old strike.

The two sides met with a federal mediator until late afternoon Thursday. Then guild negotiators left for an executive committee meeting before returning for the evening session.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Although a House subcommittee has approved a Senate bill which in part requires public access to Watergate-related White House tapes, it's uncertain if this includes broadcasting of the tapes.

"Frankly, this was a matter that just didn't come up," says Rep. John Brademus, D-Ind., chairman of a House Administration subcommittee which approved the measure this week.

The bill is intended to nullify a Sept. 6 agreement between former President Richard M. Nixon and the government concerning control by Nixon of his presidential tapes and papers.

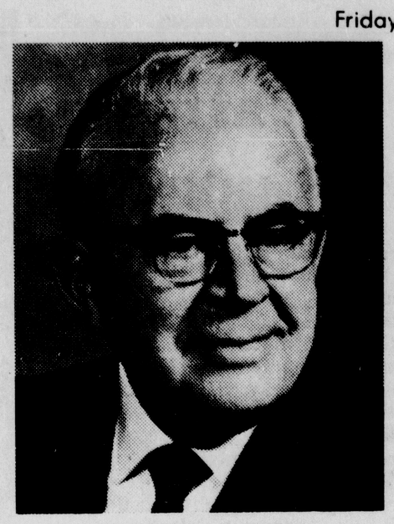

It specifically requires access to provide the public "the full truth, at the earliest reasonable date, of the abuses of governmental power popularly identified under the generic term Watergate."

But it doesn't spell out what public access means, although Brademus has said in a statement it would open Nixon's tapes and papers to "examination by scholars, journalists and the public."

The congressman, asked later by phone if this means broadcast journalists could record the tapes for airing on radio and TV, said no one even had posed that question of him until now.

"The bill provides that regulations (on access to the tapes and papers) be made by the General Services Administration, subject to congressional veto," he said.

"In my view, it wouldn't be wise to try to spell out every regulation in the bill. But I think its language is broad enough to allow the GSA to propose regulations that would permit the broadcasting of the tapes."

3 WASHINGTON C.H. PROPERTIES
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1974

SELL ON PREMISES 12:00 NOON; 12:30 P.M.; 1:00 P.M.

TRACT I: Located at 703 Broadway, Washington C. H., Ohio, with 88½' frontage and 125' depth in lot size.

This one floor plan, six room residence should be given a bit of study for an investment or home of your own. Forced air gas furnace. Full bath. Garage. Fenced in yard. Remember, there isn't too many for sale on Broadway for less than $10,000. Maybe you could use this as a starter. Appraised at $9,300 and must not sell for less than two-thirds.

TRACT II: Located at 831 John Street, Washington C. H., Ohio, with 41¼' frontage and 112' in depth in lot size. At the corner of Flint Drive.

Such a one floor plan, frame residence as this, could be for the do-it-yourself people interested in an investment or home of their own property. Five rooms with full bath and gas floor furnace, is the basic arrangement inside, all of which needs revamping, in the way of decorating throughout. No garage. Appraised at $6,500 and must not sell for less than two-thirds.

TRACT III: Located at 310 McElwain, in Washington C. H., Ohio, with 41¼' frontage and 140.85' in depth in lot size.

This five room, one floor plan, residence does have much to offer, especially in this location with the trees and garage (12'x18') on this handy size lot. Partial basement with furnace (not in working condition). Roof appears to be good, but does have small leak here and there. The 110 electric may need an inspection. The bathroom. . . .well, it needs some improvements. Appraised at $5,000 and must not sell for less than two-thirds.

INSPECTION: Call selling agents, phone 335-2210.
POSSESSION: On passing of deed.
TERMS: 10 per cent down day of sale, and balance of purchase price upon delivery of deed, within 30 days for each tract.

Panthers to rely on youth

By LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Miami Trace's basketball team can be compared with a bottle of wine. With a youth movement under way for the Panthers, the end result will certainly pay off as the youngsters get a few games under their belts.

Senior Phil Skinner, a 5-foot-9 guard, is the only returning letterman on the team. According to Creamer, Skinner is an excellent floor general with outstanding quickness. Being the only letterman on the team has given Skinner the additional responsibility of trying to help out the new additions to the team.

Other seniors on the team include Mark Spears, a 5-foot-10 guard; Randy Rhonemus, a 6-foot-6 center; and Robin Zurface, a six-foot forward.

Creamer said Spears gives a super effort every time he takes the floor. Although he is not very quick, Spears is an excellent shooter and moves the ball well.

Rhonemus is considered to be the key to the Panthers' fortunes this year. The senior center has improved greatly from last year and has a tremendous desire to play. Not being a gifted shooter, his role will be to rebound and shoot close in. When he plays out high, his main duty will be to feed the other players. Creamer said the mistakes Rhonemus makes will be due to lack of experience.

Zurface makes up for his lack of quickness with his outside shooting ability. The Panther coaching staff thinks he needs to become more aggressive and go to the boards with more determination.

"I have 11 players on this team and all 11 are going to see a lot of playing time," Creamer pointed out. "Some of the seniors know they will not be starting all of the time, but they still have been showing great leadership and helping the younger players."

Being a small team presents a major problem for the Panthers, especially if Rhonemus fails to do the job at the post. Junior John Schlichter, who is 6-foot-3, serves as the backup to Rhonemus. Schlichter weighs almost 20 pounds more than Rhonemus, but he still needs to work on his aggressiveness on the boards.

Juniors Greg Cobb and Alan Conner are fighting for starting berths at forward. Cobb, who is six-foot, has been a pleasant surprise with his shooting and he is an excellent rebounder, but his defense still needs improvement. According to Creamer, Conner, who is 5-foot-11, is the type of player who makes things happen on the court. He rebounds and drives well for his size.

Creamer is extremely happy with the equalness of all the guards on his team. In addition to Skinner and Spears, juniors Rod Garringer and Gary English have been working as guards.

Garringer, who is 5-foot-9, is considered to be the best perimeter shooter among the guards. He has exceptional quickness and is very aggressive.

Lack of experience is the only thing holding English back. With increased playing time, Creamer said English will come around for the Panthers.

Gifford, who is six-foot, goes to the boards real well and is a hardnosed player on offense. He is being forced to mature and accept responsibility real fast.

Rated as a tremendous passer and possessing great quickness on defense, Schlichter, who is also six-foot, is considered to be a very deceiving player. As a guard, Schlichter also gives the Panthers decent rebounding strength and he also has the tendencies to be a great shooter.

Creamer thinks his boys proved in the preview that they can play with anybody in the league. With the young players on the team, the Panthers, who were 11-8 and finished in second place in the South Central Ohio League last season, must cut down on mistakes and adjust to crowd pressure.

"Naturally, we have some shortcomings," Creamer related. "Nobody really expects us to be a contender. However, with the type of players we have and the team unity they possess, I expect us to be in the thick of things."

"Our cohesiveness is outstanding," the Panther mentor continued. "The boys do not care who does the scoring as long as they hit the open man. They will not give one of their teammates a chance to get his head down."

"This is the type of team I enjoy coaching," Creamer indicated. "The pressure is always on the opponent because we will be the underdog in all of our games. Everything we do well is spoiling the game for the other team."

In addition to playing a very rugged league schedule, Creamer says his team has one of the toughest non-league slates in the area. London, Chillicothe, Franklin Heights and Bishop Hartley are all considered to go a long way on the tournament trail this season.

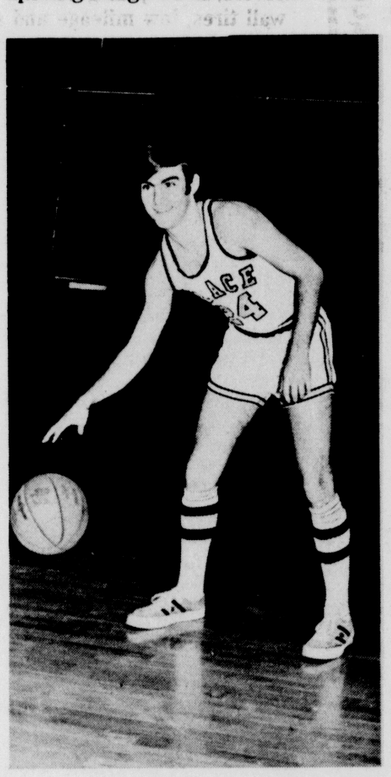

Miami Trace will be opening its cage season at home, Saturday evening. Springfield Northeastern, a team which is considered to have equal size, will be the Panthers' opponents.

In the league opener on Tuesday, Miami Trace will help Greenfield inaugurate the Tigers' new 2,400 seat gymnasium. Creamer considers Greenfield, Circleville, Unioto and Washington Court House to be the top contenders for the SCOL crown.

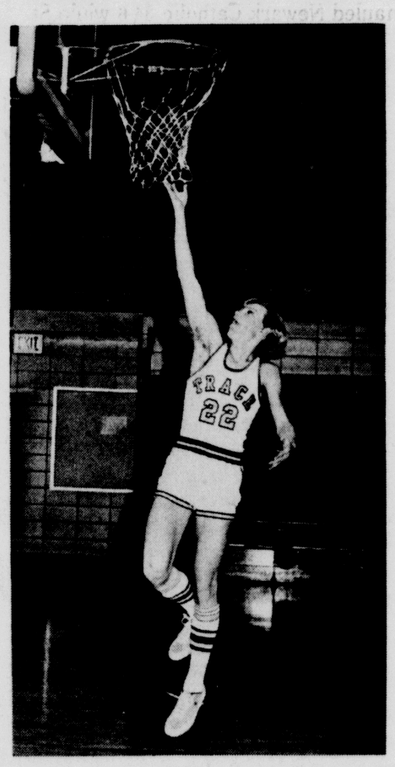

Most people think the defense-minded Panthers will have to play the role of the spoiler this season. However, with their team unity and scrappiness, the Panthers could very possibly make this a brighter year than expected.

Columbus showdown heads grid picture

APs Sports Writer

The Michigan Wolverines and Ohio State Buckeyes, bullies of the Big Ten and just about everyone else, meet Saturday to settle a league championship, a Rose Bowl berth and some personal differences.

It's the biggest game of the season for these two superpowers, who love to hate each other.

The undefeated Wolverines and once-beaten Buckeyes, ranked Nos. 3 and 4 in the country and 1-2 in the Big Ten, meet in their heralded battle at Columbus, Ohio, before an expected sellout crowd of 88,000 and a national television audience of millions more.

It's a similar situation to last year, when both teams were ranked high and met in the last game of the regular season for the right to play against the winner of the Pacific-8 Conference at Pasadena on New Year's Day.

They struggled to a 10-10 tie in 1973 and Ohio State was picked by Big Ten officials to go the Rose Bowl for the second straight year. The decision, quite naturally, outraged Michigan officials, including Coach Bo Schemblecher, who's waited a year for a return shot at the Buckeyes.

Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes, meanwhile, has no love for the Buckeyes' chief antagonists. He never mentions Michigan by name, but refers only to "that school up north," and refuses to buy gasoline from a filling station across the state line or even eat in a restaurant up there.

The winner of that bone-buster will land a Rose Bowl berth against the winner of the Southern California-UCLA game. The Trojans, ranked No. 8 in the country, hope to go to the Rose Bowl for the third straight season. They've beaten the Buckeyes once and lost another time in the last two years.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 1 Oklahoma meets No. 6 Nebraska in a collision of Big Eight powers; Air Force visits No. 5 Notre Dame; No. 11 Maryland takes on Virginia; Iowa is at No. 14 Michigan State, only team to beat Ohio State this year, and Stanford plays California, the 19th-ranked team in the country.

Ohio State is a nine-point favorite to beat Michigan, probably because of the home-field advantage. But the Buckeyes will be in trouble defensively if Neal Colzie doesn't get well in a hurry.

Colzie, the key man in Ohio State's secondary, was hospitalized Thursday with a temperature of 101 degrees and a throat infection. A team doctor wouldn't rule Colzie out of the showdown game, however.

If Southern Cal beats UCLA, the Pac-8 race is all over for 1974. It can still end up in a three-way tie with Southern Cal, UCLA and Stanford and the Rose Bowl representative would then have to be determined on overall record. The Trojans would then have to beat Notre Dame one week later to gain a Rose Bowl berth.

"I'm not thinking about any formulas," he said. "Our answer is to win the game with UCLA. If we're not good enough to win it, then we don't deserve to go to the Rose Bowl."

Blazers, Hawaiians post WFL victories

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

The World Football League, hoping to attract to its post-season games some of those paying fans who stayed away in droves during the regular season, kicked off its playoffs Thursday night with Florida and the Hawaiians posting victories.

The Blazers dumped the Philadelphia Bell 18-3 and the Hawaiians topped the Southern California Sun 32-14. But if the WFL is looking to the playoffs to patch up some of the financial leaks in its rapidly sinking ship, it better look again.

Meanwhile, the WFL's financial picture, none too bright to start with, got still bleaker Thursday as the Internal Revenue Service continued to lean all over the league. The IRS filed a $105,551 lien against the Jacksonville Sharks, claiming the club owes at least that much in back taxes.

The IRS earlier had filed liens against Birmingham and Portland, and a spokesman said if the WFL teams do not make good on the money, the IRS could foreclose on the franchises.

The IRS claims Birmingham owes 237,000 in back taxes and has reportedly filed a claim for an additional $160,000 against owner Bill Putnam. The city, county, state and a local bank also have lodged claims against the Americans.

The IRS is after Portland to the tune of $168,000.

Players, many of whom haven't been paid in weeks, were supposed to divide 70 per cent of Thursday night's gate receipts among them. Florida and Philadelphia players were expected to get about $743 each while Hawaiian and Southern Cal players were supposed to get $662 apiece.

Both Memphis and Birmingham drew first-round byes. Memphis hosts Florida next Friday while Birmingham entertains Hawaii next Wednesday. The winners will meet in the World Bowl Thurs., Dec. 5, at a site to be determined later.

Florida got all the points it needed to win the first time Philadelphia got the ball. Bell running back Claude Watts fumbled on his own 32-yard line, Blazer safety Rickie Harris scooped the ball up and raced 32 yards for a touchdown.

Quarterback Bob Davis connected with Greg Latta on a 45-yard pass play for the other Blazer TD and Dave Strock added a 24-yard field goal. Jerry Warren accounted for the Philadelphia offense with a 37-yard field goal.

Southern California got off to a rocky start even before the kickoff when running back Kermit Johnson, the team's leading rusher, and guard Booker Brown failed to show up for the game. No reason was given for the absence of the two rookies, but Coach Tom Fears said both were suspended.

The Hawaiians raced to a 17-0 lead and were never headed. Al Davis ran for a pair of short-yardage touchdowns and Randy Johnson tossed two scoring passes for the winners.

Miami, Georgia in Tangerine Bowl

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Miami of Ohio will meet the University of Georgia in the Dec. 21 Tangerine Bowl football game.

The Southeastern Conference school's athletic board voted Thursday to accept an invitation to appear in the postseason game at Orlando, Fla.

Miami was 6-0 in the Mid-American Conference and 9-0 overall and has the nation's second longest unbeaten streak of 22 games.

Cloverleaf Jim wins

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP)—Cloverleaf Jim won the featured pace mile at Latonia by three lengths in 2:05 1-5 Thursday night and paid $7.60, $4.40 and $3.80.

Three teams tied in golf

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Two ailing Englishmen, a pair of long-hitting Japanese and a diminutive South African backed by his partner sought to break a three-way team tie today in the second round of the 22nd annual World Cup Golf Tournament.

England's Peter Townshend and Maurice Bembridge, Japan's Masashi Ozaki and Isao Aoki and South Africa's Bobby Cole and Dale Hayes all shot three-under-par 137s Thursday in the opening round of the tournament at the 6,763-yard, par-7[illegible] Lagunita Country Club course.

Cole shot a 66 to take the lead in the individual standings, followed by Ozaki with 67 and Townshend and Ramon Munoz of Venezuela with 68s.

Scores in the four-day tournament are being kept on both an individual and team basis. The team competition is based on the best two-man total for 72 holes. The player with the low 72-hole score will be the individual winner.

Vancouver Ganucks edge Philadelphia

By The Associated Press

The wild confrontation between two of the hottest teams in the National Hockey League was almost a standoff. Almost, but not quite.

"I wouldn't want to go through a game like that every night," said Vancouver Coach Phil Maloney Thursday night after the Canucks edged the Philadelphia Flyers 4-3 on Chris Odleifson's last-ditch goal.

Perez could be Reds' trade bait

CINCINNATI (AP) — Veteran first baseman Tony Perez, averaging more than 100 runs batted in for the last eight seasons, may be the trade bait to solve the Cincinnati Reds' chronic problems at third base and on the pitching mound.

Bob Howsam, Reds' president and general manager, however, in characteristic fashion, is downplaying trade rumors as he prepares for baseball's winter meetings next week at New Orleans.

But Howsam admitted the Reds have received Perez' word that he won't stand in the way of any trades. As a 10-year veteran, Perez has the right to approve or refuse a trade involving him.

"I've said we don't have any plans to trade Pete Rose this year and I certainly don't see anything else in the making," said Howsam.

"But nobody's untouchable. You have to take that approach because it might take half a franchise to get what you need."

The Reds finished second to the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League West in 1974, despite their 93 victories. That would have been good enough to win any of the other three divisions in baseball.

"We're going to be very careful," said Howsam. He is reluctant to trade away the heart of a club which has won three division titles in five years but has not won a World Series.

However, Howsam said, "We've got to think of the future."

Perez has batted in an average of more than 100 runs per season in the last eight years, but he will be 33 in May. His batting average dropped from .314 in 1973 to .265 in 1974, his lowest since 1967.

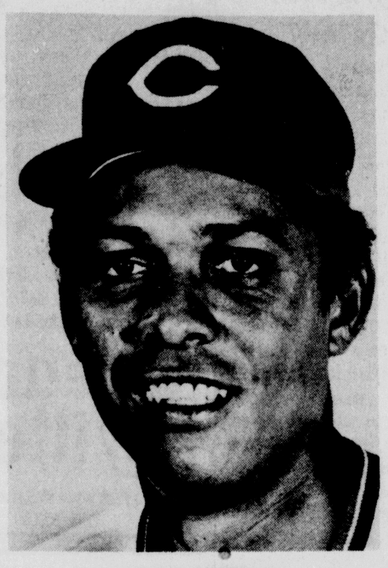

The 6-foot-2 first baseman, who has a .288 career batting average, waived his 10-year trade approval clause during a meeting with Howsam shortly after the end of the season.

Howsam revealed he discussed deals with a number of other teams but nothing came of the talks.

"We're interested in a third baseman," Howsam said, "but we also think we may have the talent in our own organization. We definitely want to improve defensively," he said.

"And, we're looking for more consistent pitching."

A poor defensive showing by Dan Driessen at third, a position once held by Perez, has prompted reports that Manager Sparky Anderson would like to move Driessen to first, his normal position.

Rams looking for championship

Monday night was very good to the Oakland Raiders. The Los Angeles Rams hope it'll be good to them, too. But both teams will have to be good on Sunday.

Last Sunday, the Raiders defeated San Diego 17-10 to clinch at least a tie for the American Conference's West Division title, then locked it up outright when the runner-up Denver Broncos lost to visiting Kansas City on Monday night.

Now it's the Rams' chance. They can clinch a tie for the National Conference West title with a victory over the Minnesota Vikings. And if they get past that first big hurdle, they can lock it up if the runner-up New Orleans Saints lose to visiting Pittsburgh on Monday night.

The Rams won't be the only team on the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum turf with visions of titles dancing in their heads. The Vikings, too, can lock up a crown of their own, in the NFC's Central Division, and they can do it Sunday — but they need a lot more help. It'll take a Minnesota victory and losses by the Packers and Lions to sew it up.

The Rams and Vikes own identical 8-3 records — just as they owned identical 6-0 records when they met in 1973. "It's going to be interesting, just like last year," says Minnesota Coach Brant.

Grant would no doubt like the outcome to be the same as a year ago. The Vikings stayed unbeaten, edging Los Angeles 10-9, and ran their perfect string to nine in a row before losing to Atlanta.

"We haven't played against James Harris before," Grant said of the Rams' quarterback. "But from what we've seen, he certainly has a strong arm."

The Vikes have one, too, of course, in Fran Tarkenton, the No. 5 passer in the NFC just behind Harris. But both teams will probably rely more on strong legs.

The Rams have Lawrence McCutcheon, the league's rushing leader with 887 yards. He's also caught 26 passes for 278 yards, bringing his total yardage for the year to 1,165. The Vikes have Chuck Foreman, No. 3 in the NFC with 667. And Foreman has caught 39 passes for 455 yards, bringing his total yardage to 1,122.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, are in a dogfight in the NFC East, leading Washington by one game. The Cards are seven-point favorites to beat the Giants — but New York has always been a tough team for them, having won 46 of the 64 games they've played.

The Redskins, hoping to extend Philadelphia's nosedive to six games, are coming off a hard-fought 28-21 victory over Dallas, their sixth triumph in seven games, and are in a strong position to take the NFC's wild-card playoff spot.

The Cowboys are all but out of the playoff picture. If they fail to get in, it will be the first time in nine years. Houston is riding the crest of a four-game winning streak and hopes to knock off Dallas, which routed the Oilers 56-10 four years ago in the teams' only previous meeting.

The Dolphins have won five in a row, a run that has carried them to the top of the AFC East, one game ahead of Buffalo. The Jets have won their last two with Joe Namath throwing a pair of touchdowns in each. The Bills need a victory to assure temselves of staying within striking distance of Miami and at least a game ahead of new England and Cincinnati in the AFC wild-card race. The Browns are in danger of suffering their first losing season in 18 years.

The Patriots are struggling to stay in the playoff picture, having dropped three in a row. And they're facing a Baltimore squad which pulled itself together last week for its first victory in four games.

The Bengals, invading Kansas City, are in a shaky position, having lost two in a row to fall 1½ games back of first place in the AFC Central Division. John Hadl, now in a Green Bay uniform, faces his former San Diego teammates while Chargers' rookie Don Woods faces what could have been Packers' teammates. Woods was cut by the Pack before the season began and, with San Diego, has rushed for 790 yards, fourth best in the AFC and better than anyone on Green Bay.

The Bears will try once again to score a touchdown, something they haven't done in nearly five full games. The Lions have won five of their last six to claw their way back into playoff contention.

The Broncos fell out of the playoff race with their Monday night loss, taking the steam out of their game against Oakland, whom they were expected to challenge for the AFC West title.

Marion Campbell is still looking for his first victory as coach of the Falcons, who have lost five in row. They'll have to stop rookie quarterback Tom Owen, who passed for 313 yards and two touchdowns in the 49ers' 34-0 rout of the Bears a week ago that ended San Francisco's seven-game spin.

Harding, Arlington vie for AAA crown

"They have the fastest three backs I've ever seen on one high school team," Upper Arlington Coach Pete Corey said of his championship opponent in the Akron Rubber Bowl.

Harding mentor Ed Glass admitted, "Upper Arlington is so strong. It will be our speed against their strength."

In Class A, Middletown Fenwick seeks a second straight playoff championship. The Falcons, second ranked, match a 10-0-1 record against ninthrated Fremont St. Joseph (9-2-0) at Upper Arlington High School tonight.

Harding's swift trio is wingback Tyrone Hicks, with 9.7 100-yard dash speed; and quarterback Jim Richburg and tailback John Ziegler, both with 10-flat quickness.

"We think we can handle them inside, but their speed is awesome," said Corey, mapping a ball-control attack to offset the Panthers' strength.

Hicks' 34-yard touchdown run jumped Harding ahead 12-10 against Cincinnati Moeller in the semifinals last week. The Panthers posted a 20-10 upset of the No. 1-ranked Crusaders.

Meanwhile, Upper Arlington, which has won the Central Ohio League six of the last seven seasons, ousted New Philadelphia 27-7.

In Class AA semifinals, Norwalk upset top-ranked Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary 20-7 and Louisville Aquinas eliminated Cincinnati Mariemont 19-7.

FILLS THE BILL

This older well maintained home will fill your needs as it offers: a large living room with an open fireplace, a formal dining room, a large kitchen with loads of wall cabinets and working space plus a pantry and storage room for your deep freeze, a nice size bedroom, a den or TV room or an additional bedroom and a full bath all downstairs.

The basement affords 220 electric hookup for your washer and dryer, a new hot water heater, a gas hot air furnace, plus much additional work or storage space.

This all carpeted home with its larger rooms and decor will give you the restful feeling of living in a home not just a house.

Let us show you this home being offered at $24,900 today — tomorrow might be too late, since this type home is not offered on the selling market everyday.

Mondale bows out of 1976 race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale has become the second drop-out of the 1976 Democratic presidential race, leaving liberal Democrats at least temporarily without a well-known contender.

Mondale announced his withdrawal Thursday just a few hours after Sen. Henry M. Jackson, who has strong support from party regulars and organized labor, disclosed he has hired a key party organizer for his anticipated candidacy.

The Jackson recruit was Robert J. Keefe, 40-year-old executive director of the Democratic National Committee. He will become political director of the still unofficial Jackson campaign Dec. 1.

That will enable him to take charge of the Washington senator's effort at the party's Dec. 6 mini-convention in Kansas City. Candidates and potential candidates will display their wares in Kansas City for some 3,000 top Democrats, many of them likely 1976 convention delegates.

Coming less than two months after the September withdrawal of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Mondale's surprise decision left Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona as the most visible, current liberal candidate against Jackson when the presidential primaries begin 16 months from now.

In fact, Udall's progress in snaring support of key liberals in New Hampshire, the traditional opening primary, was reported to be one factor in Mondale's decision. However, the Minnesota senator insisted, "This is a personal decision on my part and had nothing to do with any other candidate."

Udall is expected to formally declare himself in the presidential race in New Hampshire this weekend. He would be the first official entrant in what will likely be a large Democratic field by early 1976.

Both Jackson and Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia are expected to announce their candidacies next month. Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen of Texas is another likely candidate, former Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma has spent considerable time in New Hampshire, and Mayor Kevin White of Boston may run there too.

The Harris poll reported Thursday that Wallace is the most familiar Democratic prospect and the first choice by a slender margin. A poll of 1,265 potential Democratic and independent voters found 93 per cent knew of Wallace and he was the first choice of 19 per cent. He was followed by 1972 contenders Sens. George McGovern of South Dakota and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

Mondale, too, had been considered a likely contender, ever since his Minnesota colleague, Hubert H. Humphrey, proclaimed him a future candidate as Mondale swept to re-election in 1972.

But he disclosed at his news conference that as he proceeded his doubts grew. "I found I did not have the overwhelming desire to be President which is essential for the kind of campaign that is required," Mondale said.

Kennedy said he thought "the nation is poorer for the decision he has made." Humphrey said that he had encouraged Mondale to stay in the race and that he regretted Mondale's decision.

Security guard shot to death

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A supermarket security guard, 52-year-old Homer Bailey of Cleveland, was shot to death Thursday in an incident police said today left them puzzled.

A Cleveland homicide detective said police have no evidence indicating a robbery attempt. "We don't know why" Bailey was slain, he added.

Miller sees UMW approval of pact

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller said Thursday he thinks the union's 120,000 bituminous coal miners will ratify a proposed contract if a few changes can be made during renewed negotiations with coal producers.

"It's the very best contract that's ever been negotiated in the labor movement," Miller said, although the 39-member UMW Bargaining Council recommended it undergo "some minor adjustments" before being submitted to striking miners for ratification.

The chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, Guy Farmer, said the operators do not intend to reopen the talks, but Miller said he hasn't been officially informed of that decision.

While not rejecting the contract outright, the Bargaining Council's decision to withhold it from member ratification still means the nationwide strike will probably continue into a fourth week. Miller said areas needing revision include vacations, jurisdiction, work rules and a wage package.

Miller added that some miners believe a right to strike clause should be included, but he said it wasn't needed. "I think there is considerable interest because of the way grievances were handled in the past," Miller said, but added "we've got a streamlined grievance procedure" that negates the need for a right to strike clause.

"I believe we can solve the problems without resorting to a right to strike. I don't see there will be a real need," Miller said.

"I'd be delighted to work under this contract," he added. "I like the fringe benefit areas. We've had so much catching up to do . . . in a short period of time up the road, our membership will have the best retirement program in the labor movement in this country."

But Miller, here for a news conference, talked to some West Virginia miners who think the contract could be better.

The UMW president said he was not trying to sell the present contract but wanted to put an end to rumors from "false prophets. That's why I'm here," he said.
